Citizens Panel Sessions Open To Public, Prosecutor Says

Meetings of the Fayette County Citizens Committee are "public meetings and open to the public at all times," County Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant has ruled.

The prosecutor's opinion had been requested by Ray Brandenburg and Edward J. Cunningham, members of the Citizens Committee, after that body adjourned abruptly on May 23 because of the presence of approximately 20 visitors.

The adjournment came on a 6-3 vote with Brandenburg, Cunningham and Walter F. Rettig, city-appointed members of the committee, voting against it.

Carl James, chairman of the committee, had called for a vote on the adjournment motion over the objections of the three city members.

JAMES DECLARED that the committee felt it could function better without a large number of visitors and said he did not think it necessary that the committee's sessions be opened to the public. He added that there could be more freedom of discussion and more constructive action without what he termed the "pressure" created by groups of visitors.

The prosecutor's opinion, addressed to Kenneth Bush, clerk of the Citizens Committee, says:

"I have been requested by two members of the Fayette County Citizens Committee to give my opinion to said Fayette County Citizens Committee, as to whether the meetings of said committee are required to be open to the public at all times."

"It is my opinion that a Citizens Committee is an 'authority' of a 'political subdivision' and as such Section 121.22 of the Ohio Revised Code requires that 'all meetings are . . . public meetings open to the public at all times.'"

ENCLOSED is a copy of the quoted section of the Revised Code which says:

"All meetings of any board or commission of any state agency or authority and all meetings of any board, commission, agency or authority of any county, township, municipal corporation, school district or other political subdivision are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times. No . . ."

Ohio Veterans Getting Korean War Bonuses

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio veterans of the Korean War began receiving their bonus checks today.

W. Forest Woodmansee, assistant director of the compensation fund, said the first 1,000 checks have been placed in the mail.

The program allows $10 a month for domestic duty and $15 a month for foreign service between June 25, 1950, and July 19, 1953, with a maximum of $400.

British Set Off Another H-Bomb in Pacific Tests

ABOARD H.M.S. Alert (A-1) a vicious burst of sound and fury roared high over the central Pacific Friday as Britain touched off the second and most powerful hydrogen bomb blast in its test series.

A four-engine jet Valiant bomber, flying thousands of feet above sea level, dropped the four-ton missile, estimated to have a destructive force equal to five million tons of TNT, near Malden atoll 400 miles south of Christmas Island.

The blast was believed three times as powerful as the first explosion the British fired in May.

Newsmen and other observers aboard this naval yacht 35 miles from the blast scene, were cautioned to keep their backs turned to avoid risking their sight.

After 10 seconds, the press corps clad in protective suits and goggles, was given the word to face the awesome spectacle.

A huge fireball, estimated at more than a mile wide, hovered in the sky, its center a writhing

Election Law Overhaul Seen Still Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Continuing controversy darkened the outlook today for passage this year of legislation to overhaul federal election laws.

A special subcommittee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) added another Friday to a series of proposed reform bills, but McClellan said he will not formally introduce it. It involves issues that are "still controversial," he said.

And some members of the special investigating group disagreed with some major provisions of the bill the committee recommended after a 14-month study.

At the last session of Congress, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas teamed up with Republican Leader Knowland of California to introduce a "clean elections" bill after a furor over lobbying on a natural gas bill sparked the creation of the McClellan committee.

An even more stringent bill was introduced in March by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), who conducted an investigation of campaign spending and contributions in the 1956 elections. The bills in call for fuller reporting and disclosure of campaign activities. The controversy revolves chiefly about limitations on campaign contributions and expenditures.

Gore's bill would limit expenditures in presidential and vice presidential elections to about 20 cents a vote—or between 12 and 13 million dollars on the basis of the last election. The committee bill provides for no ceiling.

In Senate and House races, spending would be limited to 10 cents a vote by the Gore bill.

Storm Damage to electrical and telephone lines was at a minimum, officials at the Dayton Power & Light Co. and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here said.

"I guess a lot of that heavy lightning Friday night was the cloud-to-cloud variety, and not the cloud-to-earth form," a DP&L representative theorized.

A group of 19 telephones on S. Fayette St. were knocked out for a couple of hours Saturday morning, a telephone official said, but other than that, no damage was reported to either utility.

Sabina got a brief cloudburst about 7:15 p. m. Friday which flooded a large part of the village and covered the CCC Highway with water in three places.

Texas Hit Again by Heavy Rain

DALLAS (AP)—Rains of up to 11 inches flooded portions of Texas Friday, two boys were killed by lightning, and farmers waited impatiently for thousands of acres of land to dry as violent weather continued in Texas.

The Midland, Tex., Weather Bureau said a tornado was sighted a few miles west of Big Spring in west Texas, but it caused no damage.

More than 11 inches of rain fell in three hours in south Texas between Uvalde and Lamy, causing flash flooding. More than three inches fell at Kingsville, also in south Texas, and one inch fell in 20 minutes at Big Spring, flooding streets. Lubbock, Amarillo, Plainview and Sherman were raked by storms.

The rains have prevented harvesting and were believed to have placed south plains wheat crops in jeopardy. Cotton crops in Hale, Floyd and Swisher counties, just south of the Panhandle, were far behind in planting.

A flash flood covered the heart of Brackettville, a ranch center of 1,800 about 125 miles west of San Antonio, under 18 inches of water. The town had about 5 inches of rain.

The Red Cross said Friday that 36,224 Texans were directly affected by tornadoes and floods during April and May, not counting Thursday or Friday's victims. At least 745 homes and 384 farm buildings were destroyed and 197 other buildings flattened. Deaths blamed on weather totaled 52.

Heavy Rainfall Hard on Crops

More Precipitation Due Here Saturday

Crop-damaging rain—full .59 of an inch of it—fell on Fayette County Friday, and more was expected before Sunday morning.

Forecast called for showers Saturday afternoon and evening with clearing Sunday.

"More corn and soybeans were flooded out" by Friday's thunderstorms, County Agent W. W. Montgomery said. Explaining that the loss was "by no means crippling," he pointed out that the extra time and money and the decrease in yield brought on by the need for reseeding will "definitely take its toll."

Weeds will be heavier in the fields, too, Montgomery said, since this would normally be the time to bet a good deal of cultivating done. Some hay was lost as well, he observed.

French Chief Deplores Mass Algeria Killings

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty urged "all civilized peoples" today to take note of the massacre of an Algerian village and turn their backs on the rebels seeking to cast off French rule.

Throughout France feelings of horror and revulsion were stirred up by accounts from Algeria telling of nationalists slaying virtually all the menfolk of Melouza, a village 80 miles south-east of Algiers.

French officials said 302 villagers were killed apparently because of rivalry between nationalist groups.

Frenchmen, accustomed to other peoples' condemnation of their Algerian policy, were shocked by the Melouza massacre as by nothing else since the nationalist rebellion broke out two and one-half years ago with attacks on French settlers.

Breaking precedent, Coty went on the radio at midnight to tell his countrymen and the world:

"I ADDRESS myself to all civilized people and I ask them if they do not feel the time has come to signify that they will refuse absolutely to listen to the killers and agents of this horrible terrorism which tramples all the laws of God and man in contempt of universal conscience."

"There is not a single Frenchman, there is not in the world a man with feelings who has not been overwhelmed by pity and horror."

News of the massacre seemed certain to intensify French measures to subdue the Algerian revolt. French military forces immediately launched a vast operation with helicopter, plane and armored troops to hunt down the slayers.

Some French officers in the area blamed the massacre on rebel groups they said recently arrived in Algeria from neighboring Tunisia, although Melouza is some 200 miles from the Tunisian border.

French newspapers were quick to suggest the Melouza massacre was only a forerunner of what might follow if the French withdrew from Algeria as the nationalists demand.

Most Frenchmen agreed the assassination of one of France's closest Algerian friends—Ali Chekhal, 60, who sought a French-Muslim union—in Paris Sunday was the signal for mass attacks against all Moslems still friendly to France.

Man Cools Off In Jail After Hot Sauce Stint

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Too much hot sauce really burned up James Charleston, but the police cooled him off in jail for assault, threats to do bodily harm and carrying a concealed weapon.

Charleston, 38, showed up at Mark Soo's Restaurant and ordered shrimp and rice. He complained that it lacked seasoning and demanded sauce. Soo brought a bottle of stuff with plenty of bite. Charleston emptied the bottle on his food, and waded in. Then he exploded.

Soo told police Charleston chased him with a knife, hurled chairs at him and pursued him upstairs. Charleston ran out of the restaurant and practically into the arms of the police.

Cleveland Wife Kills Mate, 42

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 42-year-old man was stabbed to death early today following a family argument, police reported.

Steve Robar died in Euclid Glenview Hospital of two knife wounds in his back.

Police said his wife Bertha, 37, admitted the stabbing. She was held without formal charge.

Officers said the argument started when Mrs. Robar, who was released Wednesday from a hospital, accused her husband of philandering. They said the couple had been drinking. They have three children.

New U. S. Policy Review Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called today for a "new look" at U. S. policies as a result of the British decision to expand trade with Communist China.

He reported he believes this country "must frankly face the fact that the British action will require us to re-evaluate the Chinese trade situation."

"We will have to take a new look and that new look will be one of our most pressing foreign policy problems in the months ahead," he said.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) backed up Johnson's call for reexamination of policies in effect since the Korean War.

As Republican Leader Knowland of California did Friday, Johnson took something of a conciliatory attitude toward London's decision to put Red China in the same trade category as Russia and the Soviet satellites.

NO OTHER nation has yet rushed to follow the British lead, and informed sources in Paris said the British were disappointed at that. But from a secret meeting there of representatives of the 15 nations affected by the curbs, there were reports that several others were seriously considering trade relaxations.

Under U. S. urging, Britain and other free world nations had joined earlier in a stiffer trade embargo against Peiping than had been applied against Moscow. This was done primarily on the grounds that the Chinese Communists had been declared by the United Nations to be aggressors in the Korean War.

The United States bars all shipments to Red China and administration officials have not gone as far publicly as Johnson in suggesting a review of this policy.

Johnson said Britain's decision to relax the embargo represented an "abrupt break, and perhaps a

Snake Appears And Lady Nearly Sets Jump Mark

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—They say Miss Louise Mizell nearly equaled the world's record for the standing broad jump when she saw a water moccasin crawling across her shoe.

She was standing near her parked car Friday, receiving congratulations from a friend on her new engagement ring.

The snake oozed up the wheel of Miss Mizell's car and disappeared under the hood. Someone drove the car to a nearby service station, where an attendant turned on a steam hose full blast. The snake was never found.

Two Baby Boys Lost In Wooded Foothills

ORTING, Wash. (AP)—Twin 21-month-old boys disappeared from their home in the wooded foothills south of here Friday afternoon and hundreds of searchers have found no trace of them.

Missing are Kevin and Kerry Yanasak, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Yanasak. The boys last were seen about 3 p. m.

The search has been concentrated near the home in the vicinity of a sheer bluff which drops several hundred feet.

Convicted Playright Set For Wait To Hear Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Playwright Arthur Miller may have to wait three weeks or longer to learn whether he goes to jail for contempt of Congress.

Convicted Friday but still free on bond, Miller and his wife, actress Marilyn Monroe, left their New York apartment saying they were "going away for a little while." He declined to comment on his conviction.

Federal District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin ruled Friday that Miller was guilty, but delayed sentencing to await a report from the court's probation office.

Because of that office's heavy workload, there was speculation that Miller might not hear his sentence for three weeks.

McLaughlin ruled that the 41-year-old writer unlawfully refused to answer two questions concerning the identity of Communist writers with whom Miller admitted attending meetings in New York in 1947. Miller had talked freely of setback, to the policies we have been following."

Knowland, Congress' chief critic of the Peiping regime and principal defender of the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa, told the Senate Friday Britain may lose Hong Kong to a Red China bolstered to new strength by British goods.

But the moderate tone of Knowland's criticism of the London decision went a long way toward dissipating State Department fears that violent reaction in Congress might put a further strain on U.S.-British relations.

In London, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said he thought Britain's action would remove a source of friction between the two countries.

He said many people in Britain and its overseas territories felt the U. S. stand was depriving them of work and that this had been "a handy weapon to anti-Americanism."

Judge Tells Cincy To Set Up Election

CINCINNATI (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Charles E. Weber has ordered a special election set by next Wednesday on the question of retaining the city's controversial proportional representation vote-count system.

The judge said that City Council will "be held in contempt of court" if it fails to take action by June 5.

Republican members of Council set a special meeting for today. They said that if action is not completed at this session, they will call a special meeting every day until an ordinance for the election is approved.

Members of the five-member Charter Party majority in Council said they will not attend today's session. The Charterites have supported the PR vote-count system.

The Ohio Supreme Court recently upheld an earlier ruling by Judge Weber directing Council to "forthwith" set the election.

Under the PR vote count system, voters ballot for the nine councilmen in order of preference, and a mathematical formula determines the winners on the basis of first choice votes received by each candidate.

Proposal Hinges On Ending Arms Manufacture

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States reportedly will offer Russia next week a new disarmament plan which would provide for ending nuclear weapons tests if solid agreement can be reached to halt their manufacture.

Informed sources said here Friday night that once an inspection system was placed into effect and the manufacture of atomic weapons was halted, tests obviously would become unnecessary.

Apparently the U. S. position on testing remains essentially the same as that repeatedly stated in the past—that the United States must continue test so long as the arms race continues.

The new U. S. plan was worked out at a White House conference last Saturday. It is expected to be presented to Russia next week in London at sessions of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee.

The New York Times said today the United States has decided "to negotiate for a truce limitation of tests of nuclear weapons as part of a first-step disarmament agreement with the Soviet Union."

"THIS DECISION, modifying the administration's long-standing opposition to any early ban on tests, has been taken on President Eisenhower's insistence that the United States meet the Soviet Union 'half way' to get a disarmament agreement."

"It's significance is that the administration for the first time is willing to consider some limitation on testing as part of the 'first step' agreement."

Three nations, the United States, Britain and Russia, now have nuclear weapons. After last Saturday's White House meeting, Secretary of State Dulles said the American aim is to bring the arms race under control, prevent the spreading of atomic weapons to other nations, and reduce stockpiles of the three nuclear powers.

But, officials said, under the U. S. plan all this hinges on an effective international inspection program, a key point in the past disarmament deadlock.

The U. S. plan reportedly would seek to prevent the spread of atomic weapons by requiring all non-atomic nations to renounce the right to make nuclear weapons.

According to the U. S. explanation, this country, Russia and Britain would first agree to:

1. Stop all atomic - hydrogen bomb tests.
2. End all production of nuclear weapons.

4. Begin reducing weapons stockpiles by transferring fissionable materials from the weapons to peaceful purposes, preferably to an international agency.

It was stressed that these three conditions would be part of an overall East-West disarmament plan, with aerial inspection on each side of the Iron Curtain to assure compliance by both sides.

Drink Testimony Not Convincing

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Alfred Garcia testified in federal court his head was hurt in an accident last November and he had been having headaches ever since.

A defense attorney in the workmen's compensation case asked: "You get drunk on the average of once a week and you have for the last nine years?"

"Yes sir," replied Garcia.

The defense: "Do you mean to tell this court that getting drunk never gave you a headache?"

"No sir," Garcia replied.

It took the jury five minutes to decide against Garcia.

Holiday Road Toll Nearing 200 Total

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic deaths from the Memorial Day weekend neared the 200 mark today.

The highway toll reached 184. An additional 67 deaths from drowning and 49 from other causes boosted the over-all fatality mark to an even 300.

California and Pennsylvania were tied at 14 each in the greatest number of traffic deaths. Illinois, with 13, was next.

The last four-day Memorial Day weekend, in 1950, saw 347 traffic deaths.

This four-day holiday got off to a good start with fewer traffic deaths than predicted. The count for the period from 6 p. m. Wednesday until midnight Thursday was 94. That compared with 120 predicted by the National Safety Council in Chicago.

State - by - state compilation of accidental deaths since 6 p. m. Wednesday, with the figures denoting respectively traffic, drowning and other miscellaneous causes, include:

Illinois 13-2-1; Indiana 10-1-0; Iowa 4-2-2; Kentucky 4-2-0; Michigan 9-3-4; Minnesota 1-2-2; Missouri 7-4-1; Nebraska 2-1-4; Ohio 63-4; Tennessee 30-1.

Prior to the blast, Christmas Island had been a beehive of activity as more than 2,000 scientists and servicemen at the operational headquarters made final preparations for the test—biggest of the series called "Operation Grapple."

The British task force scientific director, William Cook, predicted there would be "no significant fallout" from the burst.

The fireball, he said, would not touch the water, and the remains of the missile would condense into fine particles that would be swept up into the stratosphere in the mushroom cloud.

"These particles will take from months to many years to fall back to ground level," Cook said.

Texas Hit Again by Heavy Rain

DALLAS (AP)—Rains of up to 11 inches flooded portions of Texas Friday, two boys were killed by lightning, and farmers waited impatiently for thousands of acres of land to dry as violent weather continued in Texas.

The Midland, Tex., Weather Bureau said a tornado was sighted a few miles west of Big Spring in west Texas, but it caused no damage.

More than 11 inches of rain fell in three hours in south Texas between Uvalde and Lapidary, causing flash flooding. More than three inches fell at Kingsville, also in south Texas, and one inch fell in 20 minutes at Big Spring, flooding streets. Lubbock, Amarillo, Plainview and Sherman were raked by storms.

The rains have prevented harvesting and were believed to have placed south plains wheat crops in jeopardy. Cotton crops in Hale, Floyd and Swisher counties, just south of the Panhandle, were far behind in planting.

A flash flood covered the heart of Brackettville, a ranch center of 1,800 about 125 miles west of San Antonio, under 18 inches of water. The town had about 5 inches of rain.

The Red Cross said Friday that 36,224 Texans were directly affected by tornadoes and floods during April and May, not counting Thursday or Friday's victims. At least 745 homes and 384 farm buildings were destroyed and 197 other buildings flattened. Deaths blamed on weather totaled 52.

Heavy Rainfall Hard on Crops

More Precipitation Due Here Saturday

Crop-damaging rain—full .59 of an inch of it—fell on Fayette County Friday, and more was expected before Sunday morning.

Forecast called for showers Saturday afternoon and evening with clearing Sunday.

"More corn and soybeans were flooded out" by Friday's thunderstorms, County Agent W. W. Montgomery said. Explaining that the loss was "by no means crippling," he pointed out that the extra time and money and the decrease in yield brought on by the need for reseeding will "definitely take its toll."

Weeds will be heavier in the fields, too, Montgomery said, since this would normally be the time to bet a good deal of cultivating done. Some hay was lost as well, he observed.

STORM DAMAGE to electrical and telephone lines was at a minimum, officials at the Dayton Power & Light Co. and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here said.

"I guess a lot of that heavy lightning Friday night was the cloud-to-cloud variety, and not the cloud-to-earth form," a DP&L representative theorized.

A group of 19 telephones on S. Fayette St. were knocked out for a couple of hours Saturday morning, a telephone official said, but other than that, no damage was reported to either utility.

Sabina got a brief cloudburst about 7:15 p. m. Friday which flooded a large part of the village and covered the CCC Highway with water in three places.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Myrtle R. Harrington gave Mrs. William D. McKim a ride home Friday to her very front door.

French Chief Deplores Mass Algeria Killings

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty urged "all civilized peoples" today to take note of the massacre of an Algerian village and turn their backs on the rebels seeking to cast off French rule.

Throughout France feelings of horror and revulsion were stirred up by accounts from Algeria telling of nationalists slaying virtually all the menfolk of Melouza, a village 80 miles south-east of Algiers.

French officials said 302 villagers were killed apparently because of rivalry between nationalist groups.

Frenchmen, accustomed to other peoples' condemnation of their Algerian policy, were shocked by the Melouza massacre as by nothing else since the nationalist rebellion broke out two and one-half years ago with attacks on French settlers.

Breaking precedent, Coty went on the radio at midnight to tell his countrymen and the world:

"I ADDRESS myself to all civilized people and I ask them if they do not feel the time has come to signify that they will refuse absolutely to listen to the killers and agents of this horrible terrorism which tramples all the laws of God and man in contempt of universal conscience."

"There is not a single Frenchman, there is not in the world a man with feelings who has not been overwhelmed by pity and horror."

News of the massacre seemed certain to intensify French measures to subdue the Algerian revolt. French military forces immediately launched a vast operation with helicopter, plane and armored troops to hunt down the slayers.

Some French officers in the area blamed the massacre on rebel groups they said recently arrived in Algeria from neighboring Tunisia, although Melouza is some 200 miles from the Tunisian border.

French newspapers were quick to suggest the Melouza massacre was only a forerunner of what might follow if the French withdrew from Algeria as the nationalists demand.

Most Frenchmen agreed the assassination of one of France's closest Algerian friends—Ali Chekka, 60, who sought a French-Muslim union—in Paris Sunday was the signal for mass attacks against all Moslems still friendly to France.

Man Cools Off In Jail After Hot Sauce Stint

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Too much hot sauce really burned up James Charleston, but the police cooled him off in jail for assault, threats to do bodily harm and carrying a concealed weapon.

Charleston, 38, showed up at Mark Soo's Restaurant and ordered shrimp and rice. He complained that it lacked seasoning and demanded sauce. Soo brought a bottle of stuff with plenty of bite. Charleston emptied the bottle on his food, and waded in. Then he exploded.

Soo told police Charleston chased him with a knife, hurled chairs at him and pursued him upstairs. Charleston ran out of the restaurant and practically into the arms of the police.

Cleveland Wife Kills Mate, 42

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 42-year-old man was stabbed to death early today following a family argument, police reported.

Steve Robar died in Euclid-Glenville Hospital of two knife wounds in his back.

Police said his wife Bertha, 37, admitted the stabbing. She was held without formal charge.

Officers said the argument started when Mrs. Robar, who was released Wednesday from a hospital, accused her husband of philandering. They said the couple had been drinking. They have three children.

New U. S. Policy Review Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called today for a "new look" at U. S. policies as a result of the British decision to expand trade with Communist China.

He reported he believes this country "must frankly face the fact that the British action will require us to re-evaluate the Chinese trade situation."

"We will have to take a new look and that new look will be one of our most pressing foreign policy problems in the months ahead," he said.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) backed up Johnson's call for reexamination of policies in effect since the Korean War.

As Republican Leader Knowland of California did Friday, Johnson took something of a conciliatory attitude toward London's decision to put Red China in the same trade category as Russia and the Soviet satellites.

NO OTHER nation has yet rushed to follow the British lead, and informed sources in Paris said the British were disappointed at that. But from a secret meeting there of representatives of the 15 nations affected by the curbs, there were reports that several others were seriously considering trade relaxations.

Under U. S. urging, Britain and other free world nations had joined earlier in a stiffer trade embargo against Peiping than had been applied against Moscow. This was done primarily on the grounds that the Chinese Communists had been declared by the United Nations to be aggressors in the Korean War.

The United States bars all shipments to Red China and administration officials have not gone as far publicly as Johnson in suggesting a review of this policy.

Johnson said Britain's decision to relax the embargo represented an "abrupt break, and perhaps a

Snow Appears And Lady Nearly Sets Jump Mark

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—They say Miss Louise Mizell nearly equaled the world's record for the standing broad jump when she saw a water moccasin crawling across her shoe.

She was standing near her parked car Friday, receiving congratulations from a friend on her new engagement ring.

The snake oozed up the wheel of Miss Mizell's car and disappeared under the hood. Someone drove the car to a nearby service station, where an attendant turned on a steam hose full blast. The snake was never found.

Convicted Playright Set For Wait To Hear Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Playwright Arthur Miller may have to wait three weeks or longer to learn whether he goes to jail for contempt of Congress.

Convicted Friday but still free on bond, Miller and his wife, actress Marilyn Monroe, left their New York apartment saying they were "going away for a little while." He declined to comment on his conviction.

Federal District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin ruled Friday that Miller was guilty, but delayed sentencing to await a report from the court's probation office.

Because of that office's heavy workload, there was speculation that Miller might not hear his sentence for three weeks.

McLaughlin ruled that the 41-year-old writer unlawfully refused at a congressional inquiry to answer two questions concerning the identity of Communist writers with whom Miller admitted attending meetings in New York in 1947. Miller had talked freely of setback, to the policies we have been following."

Knowland, Congress' chief critic of the Peiping regime and principal defender of the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa, told the Senate Friday Britain may lose Hong Kong to a Red China bolstered to new strength by British goods.

But the moderate tone of Knowland's criticism of the London decision went a long way toward dissipating State Department fears that violent reaction in Congress might put a further strain on U. S.-British relations.

In London, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said he thought Britain's action would remove a source of friction between the two countries.

He said many people in Britain and its overseas territories felt the U. S. stand was depriving them of work and that this had been "a handy weapon to anti-Americanism."

Judge Tells Cincy To Set Up Election

CINCINNATI (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Charles E. Weber has ordered a special election set by next Wednesday on the question of retaining the city's controversial proportional representation vote-count system.

The judge said that City Council will "be held in contempt of court" if it fails to take action by June 5. Republican members of Council set a special meeting for today. They said that if action is not completed at this session, they will call a special meeting every day until an ordinance for the election is approved.

Members of the five-member Charter Party majority in Council said they will not attend today's session. The Charterites have supported the PR vote-count system.

The Ohio Supreme Court recently upheld an earlier ruling by Judge Weber directing Council to "forthwith" set the election.

Under the PR vote count system, voters ballot for the nine councilmen in order of preference, and a mathematical formula determines the winners on the basis of first choice votes received by each candidate.

Twin Baby Boys Lost In Wooded Foothills

ORTING, Wash. (AP)—Twin 21-month-old boys disappeared from their home in the wooded foothills south of here Friday afternoon and hundreds of searchers have found no trace of them.

Missing are Kevin and Kerry Yanasak, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Yanasak. The boys last were seen about 3 p. m.

The search has been concentrated near the home in the vicinity of a sheer bluff which drops several hundred feet.

Proposal Hinges On Ending Arms Manufacture

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States reportedly will offer Russia next week a new disarmament plan which would provide for ending nuclear weapons tests if solid agreement can be reached to halt their manufacture.

Informed sources said here Friday night that once an inspection system was placed into effect and the manufacture of atomic weapons was halted, tests obviously would become unnecessary.

Apparently the U. S. position on testing remains essentially the same as that repeatedly stated in the past—that the United States must continue test so long as the arms race continues.

The new U. S. plan was worked out at a White House conference last Saturday. It is expected to be presented to Russia next week in London at sessions of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee.

The New York Times said today the United States has decided "to negotiate for a tryout limitation of tests of nuclear weapons as part of a first-step disarmament agreement with the Soviet Union."

"THIS DECISION, modifying the administration's long-standing opposition to any early ban on tests, has been taken on President Eisenhower's insistence that the United States meet the Soviet Union 'half way' to get a disarmament agreement."

"It's significance is that the administration for the first time is willing to consider some limitation on testing as part of the 'first step' agreement."

Three nations, the United States, Britain and Russia, now have nuclear weapons. After last Saturday's White House meeting, Secretary of State Dulles said the American aim is to bring the arms race under control, prevent the spreading of atomic weapons to other nations, and reduce stockpiles of the three nuclear powers.

But, officials said, under the U. S. plan all this hinges on an effective international inspection program, a key point in the past disarmament deadlock.

The U. S. plan reportedly would seek to prevent the spread of atomic weapons by requiring all non-atomic nations to renounce the right to make nuclear weapons.

According to the U. S. explanation, this country, Russia and Britain would first agree to:

1. Stop all atomic - hydrogen bomb tests.

2. End all production of nuclear weapons.

3. Begin reducing weapons stockpiles by transferring fissionable materials from the weapons to peaceful purposes, preferably to an international agency.

4. It was stressed that these three conditions would be part of an overall East-West disarmament plan, with aerial inspection on each side of the Iron Curtain to assure compliance by both sides.

Drink Testimony Not Convincing

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Alfred Garcia testified in federal court his head was hurt in an accident last November and he had been having headaches ever since.

A defense attorney in the workmen's compensation case asked: "You got drunk on the average of once a week and you have for the last nine years?"

"Yes sir," replied Garcia. The defense: "Do you mean to tell this court that getting drunk never gave you a headache?"

"No sir," Garcia replied. It took the jury five minutes to decide against Garcia.

Down on the Farm

2 The Record-Herald Saturday, June 1, 1957
Washington C. H., Ohio

Complying Fayette Farmers Can Get $2.04 for Wheat

Fayette County farmers can get $2.04 a bushel for this year's No. 1 wheat under the price support program if they stay within their acreage allotment.

But, if they go over their acreage allotment, they will not only have to pay a penalty of $1.12 a bushel on their "excess" wheat but will also lose their eligibility for price support on all the wheat from the farm.

This was emphasized today by Mrs. Fred Shoop, office manager of the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, after the marketing quota penalty rate was received last week from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A tolerance of only nine tenths of an acre is allowed this year for the acreage allotments for farms having an allotment of 15 acres or more. However, for the small farm, which has an allotment of less than 15 acres, wheat may be harvested from 15 acres without penalty on the excess.

MRS. SHOOP said that around 50 Fayette County farmers had sowed more than their allotment last fall, mostly because of inaccurate measurement and through oversight. However, she added, that since the farms have been checked by the county committee and the owners notified, these farmers are now either plowing under the excess acreage or clipping it so wheat cannot be harvested from it.

Only one farmer exceeded his acreage allotment last year, Mrs. Shoop said. He did, she said, because of inaccurate measurements of his field, but came in and paid his penalty without quibbling.

The wheat harvest in Fayette County probably will be in full swing in about six weeks.

AS DIRECTED by law, the rate of the marketing quota penalty is 45 per cent of the parity price per bushel of wheat as of May 1 of the calendar year in which the crop is harvested. The current parity price for wheat is $2.50 per bushel.

Growers voted approval of marketing quotas for the 1957 wheat crop on July 20, 1956. When wheat marketing quotas are in effect, a farmer who does not comply with the wheat acreage allotment established for his farm and who harvests more than his allotted acres of wheat is subject to a penalty on his farm marketing excess. The wheat crop from such a farm is also ineligible for price support.

The national average price support for the 1957 wheat crop was announced on July 2, 1956, at $2 per bushel.

In the non-commercial wheat area (Fayette County is in a commercial area), farm wheat allotments and marketing quotas do not apply. The available price support in non-commercial areas is 75 per cent of the level of support for the commercial wheat area.

THE MINIMUM loan rate of $2.04 a bushel for 1957 crop of wheat for Fayette County is determined on the basis of the minimum 1957 wheat support of $2 per bushel announced July 2, 1956.

Should a higher support be necessary on July 1 to meet the minimum level of price support specified by law, the minimum will be increased.

Two Tomato-Growing Systems Compared by Horticulturist

COLUMBUS — Planting time is the time for home gardeners to decide which system of culture to follow in growing tomatoes. Both the staked and field-grown systems have certain advantages and disadvantages, says E. L. Drollinger, Ohio State University extension horticulturist.

Staking tomatoes generally results in cleaner fruit, easier cultivation and harvesting, fewer fruits decayed or damaged because of soil insects or diseases, earlier ripe fruits, and easier dusting or spraying for insect and disease control.

Some of the disadvantages of staked tomatoes, Drollinger points out, are greater labor requirement, more cracking, usually an increased amount of blossom end rot, and lower total yield per plant.

THE disadvantages of growing staked tomatoes actually are the advantages of field grown tomatoes, the horticulturist says. If the space available for a home garden is limited, usually the stake-grown system is the most satisfactory. However, if field-grown tomatoes are mulched and well fertilized they will out-yield staked tomatoes and continue to produce good quality fruit over a longer period of time.

A good system to follow in the home garden, Drollinger explains, is to grow several plants of an early variety and stake them; then set out several plants of a midseason variety and let them grow untrained. This system provides high quality fruit over a longer season.

Normal planting distance for staked tomatoes is 18 to 24 inches in the row with three feet between rows. The spacing of field-grown plants usually is 4 by 4 feet, or 4 by 3 feet for home gardens.

Preparations Move Smoothly For World's Plowing Matches

PEEBLES — An 8 by 16 sign on the Russell Webb farm two miles north of this southern Ohio town is slowing down the normally fast-moving traffic on Highway 41 these days, with drivers, easing up on the accelerator to take a second look.

The sign marks the headquarters farm of the 2,500-acre site for the 1957 World's Conservation Exposition and Plowing Contests, September 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Visitors from all over the world will travel to Adams County this fall to view this "World Series of Agriculture", which will bring champion plowmen from 14 countries to compete for world championship plowing honors. Observers from other countries will also be present.

This will be the fifth world's plowing competition — but the first time the event ever has been held on American soil.

Combined with the World's Plowing Contests (Sept. 19-20) will be the 1957 Ohio State Plowing Matches (September 17), and the National Plowing Matches (Sept. 18), with contestants from some 15 states.

PREPARATIONS which began nearly three years ago will enable this rural community of some 1,500 to play host to an estimated 300,000 visitors. Food, transportation and housing details are being arranged by smooth working committees composed of several hundred area residents.

Roads in the area are being widened, and an elaborate traffic control system — which will eliminate any "cross-traffic" within the 16-farm site area — will allow traffic to flow smoothly in and out of the Peebles area from any direction.

Wagon tours will be in continuous operation to carry the visitors to all points of interest on the site.

Special travel accommodations from nearby large cities have been arranged, including a special non-stop train to and from Cincinnati. And no one will go hungry with more than 20 food tents located throughout the headquarters and commercial exhibit.

Educational displays will depict modern methods of converting the latest soil conservation practices into dollars through proper livestock management.

A COMPLETE women's program will feature a daily style show; appearances by Future Homemakers of America, Future Farmers of America, 4-H Talent winners, and International F. A. M. Youth Exchange delegates; demonstrations on home lighting, preservation of fabrics, and packaging frozen foods.

Reigning over the entire four-day event will be the "queen of the furrow", selected from contestants in 88 Ohio counties.

Many other special attractions will be of interest to farm and city visitors alike. There will be a daily appearance by the 102-piece U. S. Army Field Band (just back from a European tour); two appearances by Herb Parsons, "world's greatest exhibition marksman", an Air Force ground display; and the supreme championship trials of the North American Sheep Dog Society, featuring some 20 to 30 top sheep dogs from across the country — all prior winners in regional competition.

Four Top Ohio 4-H Members To Attend National Meeting

COLUMBUS — Four of Ohio's outstanding 4-H club members will attend the National 4-H Club Conference in Washington June 15 to 21.

The Buckeye delegates, chosen for the trip because of their excellent overall records in 4-H work, are Margaret Ann McConnell, Elida; Patty Houck, Plain City; David Terrell, Wilmington; and Allen Samschroder, Gibsonburg.

The National Conference trip is Ohio's top 4-H club award, according to H. W. Harshfield, state 4-H club leader. While in Washington the delegates will join 200 other 4-H youngsters from across the nation in tours and discussion; designed to help them better understand the functions of government and their responsibilities as citizens. Theme of this year's National Conference is "Citizenship in Focus."

MISS McCONNELL is a home economics student at Ohio State University. She has been in 4-H club work for 10 years, during which time she has made more than 150 articles in sewing projects.

Miss Houck also is a home economics student at Ohio State. Her 4-H activities have included work with livestock as well as home economics projects. Two years ago she won first place in the Dress Up Dress class at the Ohio State fair.

Terrell, who has been in 4-H work for 6 years, has specialized in dairy and swine projects. He has served as vice president of his county Junior Leadership club and a 4-H Junior Leader in charge of dairying.

Samschroder, a 10-year club member, is a pre-medical student at Ohio State. He had held numerous offices in connection with his club work and has completed 18 projects. He plans to be a doctor in a rural community.

THE National Conference is supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the state land-grant colleges.

Accompanying the Ohio delegates as chaperons will be Miss Helen D. Terrell, home economics agent of Hardin County, and Russell W. Smith, supervisor of 4-H work.

Preparations Move Smoothly For World's Plowing Matches

PEEBLES — An 8 by 16 sign on the Russell Webb farm two miles north of this southern Ohio town is slowing down the normally fast-moving traffic on Highway 41 these days, with drivers, easing up on the accelerator to take a second look.

The sign marks the headquarters farm of the 2,500-acre site for the 1957 World's Conservation Exposition and Plowing Contests, September 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Visitors from all over the world will travel to Adams County this fall to view this "World Series of Agriculture", which will bring champion plowmen from 14 countries to compete for world championship plowing honors. Observers from other countries will also be present.

This will be the fifth world's plowing competition - but the first time the event ever has been held on American soil.

Combined with the World's Plowing Contests (Sept. 19-20) will be the 1957 Ohio State Plowing Matches (September 17), and the National Plowing Matches (Sept. 18), with contestants from some 15 states.

PREPARATIONS which began nearly three years ago will enable this rural community of some 1,500 to play host to an estimated 300,000 visitors. Food, transportation and housing details are being arranged by smooth working committees composed of several hundred area residents.

Roads in the area are being widened, and an elaborate traffic control system - which will eliminate any "cross-traffic" within the 16-farm site area - will allow traffic

Four Top Ohio 4-H Members To Attend National Meeting

COLUMBUS — Four of Ohio's outstanding 4-H club members will attend the National 4-H Club Conference in Washington June 15 to 21.

The Buckeye delegates, chosen for the trip because of their excellent overall records in 4-H work, are Margaret Ann McConnell, Elida; Patty Houck, Plain City; David Terrell, Wilmington and Allen Samschroder, Gibsonburg.

The National Conference trip is Ohio's top 4-H club award, according to H. W. Harshfield, state 4-H club leader. While in Washington the delegates will join 200 other 4-H youngsters from across the nation in tours and discussions designed to help them better understand the functions of government and their responsibilities as citizens. Theme of this year's National Conference is "Citizenship in Focus."

MISS McCONNELL is a home economics student at Ohio State University. She has been in 4-H club work for 10 years, during which time she has made more than 150 articles in sewing projects.

Miss Houck also is a home economics student at Ohio State. Her 4-H activities have included work with livestock as well as home economics projects. Two years ago she won first place in the Dress Up Dress class at the Ohio State fair.

Terrell, who has been in 4-H work for 6 years, has specialized in dairy and swine projects. He projects. He plans to be a doctor in a rural community.

THE National Conference is supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the state land-grant colleges. Accompanying the Ohio delegates as chaperons will be Miss Helen D. Terrell, home economics agent of Hardin County, and Russell W. Smith, supervisor of 4-H work.

FORGOTTEN!
I thought of this Friday morning when I visited the old Washington C. H. Cemetery, back of the Thompson Transfer Co. buildings on Hinde St., and found not a single flower had been placed on any of the many graves there.

It was the town's first burial place and in it slumber some of the prominent early residents, including men after whom some of the streets and roads of the county were named, like Devalon, Rawlings, Temple etc.

In checking the records with assistance of Mrs. Eloise Johns on, county recorder, I found that two war veterans are buried in this sacred spot, in unmarked graves. So far as I know their graves have gone unnoticed for nearly 100 years.

These two warriors in unmarked graves, as shown by the plat, are Francis Devalon, who served in the Revolutionary War and Able W. Thompson, who was in the War of 1812.

This cemetery contains 48 of an acre, and the legible markers in it (there are more than 100 markers in the burial ground) disclose that burials were made there from 1812 to 1854. Some of the early business and professional men of the city, as well as officials, are included in the list.

Through activity of the Daughters of the American Revolution here, some of the broken grave-stones have been pieced together and held in place by wooden supports wired about the head stones and the cemetery improved generally.

The DAR also had the cemetery mowed and is giving other attention toward preserving it. (It had been mowed recently).

Most of the area is covered with myrtle and that beautiful, neglected pioneer flower "bouncing bet" has spread to some of the graves as if to help cover up the long years of neglect so apparent in the old burial ground.

A hobo camp had been established in the north corner of the cemetery, under a large mulberry tree. A black locust tree stands along the northwest side of the cemetery and a few clumps of another old time favorite, the lilac, cover some of the graves.

The plat was laid out with 676 burial places in 13 rows of 52-grave sections each. The most complete record available, showing the map and giving names of the two soldiers buried there, was compiled as a WPA project in 1940. A copy is in the county recorder's office.

Next year, and in the years to come, I hope some recognition will be given on Memorial Day and at other times to those who rest in this city's first burial ground.

"BLUE WEED"

Passing over the road south of Buena Vista recently, I was pleased to note that an infestation of the obnoxious "blue weed" apparently has been eradicated by one or two landowners where the weed appeared several years ago and was spreading rapidly.

While I saw no indications of the weed, it is possible that its blooming time is a little later, and it may be largely hidden by grass.

"Blue weed" is a coarse, prickly weed (euchium vulgare) from Europe, which has been naturalized in the United States.

The handsome blue flowers in scorpion spikes always attract attention.

The weed is also known as blue thistle, viper bugloss, etc., and I have seen it in neglected places, so thick that no grass could grow.

It is very hardy and spreads from a multitude of seed.

Below Buena Vista is the only place in Fayette County that I recall seeing the weed.

FIRST PLANE PASSENGER

Martin Weimer of Cedarville, who attends the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors meetings here and is widely known, told me at the recent meeting here that, insofar as he knows, he was the first airplane passenger. He flew with Orville Wright in a plane over what was later McCook Airfield, now part of Wright Aviation Field, he said.

It was in 1911, as Weimer recalls, that he and his father were at work operating a ditcher on the field. Martin was a young boy at the time.

He was watching the Wright plan when suddenly the pilot said to another man:

"Here is just the person we want for a passenger. Would you like to make a flight?" he asked Weimer, who was only too glad to do so.

Placing young Weimer back of him aboard the flimsy biplane, Orville Wright had Martin remove everything from his pockets to lessen the weight.

Several men used long poles to push the plane up the ramp, which was covered with soft soap to facilitate momentum of the plane, which was on skids, Martin recalls.

The plane was then given a push down the ramp, and before the end of the soaped covered ramp was reached the plane had taken to the air. It soared about over the fields for a distance of several miles before returning to the starting place. It attained a height of some 500 feet.

The plane was allowed to touch ground and bounce two or three times before skidding to a rest. The youthful passenger stepped down from the plane after the greatest thrill of his life, "the happiest little Dutchman alive" as he expressed it.

TAIPEI (U)—A naval transport neared Formosa today with 157 U. S. military personnel and dependents, and Premier O. K. Yui said conditions in Taipei were practically back to normal after anti-American riots last week.

The Hugh J. Gaffey is due at Keelung with the additions to the contingent of about 10,000 Americans already on Formosa. The transport will take home 247 military personnel and dependents being reassigned.

Yui assured Americans and other foreigners "that it is now safe for them to go about as before, not only in Taipei but throughout the island."

'Booster' Lens Aids Near-Blind

BOLTON LANDING, N. Y. (U)—An optometrist has announced development of a "booster" lens which multiplies vision for the partially blind 350 per cent.

Dr. William Feinbloom of New York City reported on the device in a paper prepared for the 62nd annual convention of the New York State Optometric Assn.

He said tests on patients aged 7 to 101 indicated that more than half of the 500,000 legally blind persons in the United States could have their working vision restored by use of the new lens which are a half-inch thick.

London Prison Guard Suspended

COLUMBUS (U)—Supt. R. B. Eckle of the London Prison Farm has told the Ohio Civil Service Commission he is firing a guard for carrying away state property.

Guard Ira Mount of near London, who is under suspension, will be dismissed June 3, Eckle said. Mount is accused of removing storage batteries and a tire and wheel from the prison farm. Eckle said Deputy Sheriff Robert Henry of Madison County recovered the property.

Mussolini Cache Spotted in Lake

MILAN, Italy (U)—Two bags which may contain a part of the Mussolini treasure were spotted Friday in Lake Como by a diver. The location of the bags was given to Como police by Capt. Otto Kisanat, Mussolini's bodyguard who now lives in Munich. Kisanat told police the bags contained gold bars, jewels, gold coins and various personal documents.

Authorization to salvage the bags was received from a court which is hearing the 12-year-old case of the treasure that the former Fascist Duce sought to take to Switzerland.

London Prison Guard Suspended

COLUMBUS (AP)—Supt. R. B. Eckle of the London Prison Farm has told the Ohio Civil Service Commission he is firing a guard for carrying away state property.

Guard Ira Mount of near London, who is under suspension, will be dismissed June 3, Eckle said. Mount is accused of removing storage batteries and a tire and wheel from the prison farm. Eckle said Deputy Sheriff Robert Henry of Madison County recovered the property.

Mussolini Cache Spotted in Lake

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Two bags of personal documents, which may contain a part of the Mussolini treasure were spotted Friday in Lake Como by a diver. The location of the bags was given to Como police by Capt. Otto Kinsat, Mussolini's bodyguard who now lives in Munich. Kinsat told police the bags contained gold bars, jewels, gold coins and various personal documents. Authorization to salvage the bags was received from a court which is hearing the 12-year-old case of the treasure that the former Fascist Duce sought to take to Switzerland.

An Attractive City Is Up To Its Citizens

What makes a city like Washington C. H., or in fact any city, attractive and a subject of favorable comment from the tourists and other visitors who stop for a time within its borders, or even those who pass through?

The recent clean-up effort in this city brought some good results but there is still a lot of work to be done to reach the point whereby the city could present its best appearance.

Here and in some other cities the question has been posed "Do you as a resident citizens deserve to live in your home city and are you doing your part in keeping it as attractive as possible?"

Of course most people will answer this with a disdainful shrug and snap back, "Certainly I do." Before you make such a reply it might be suggested that you take a quick mental appraisal and think up an honest answer to the following questions:

Do you throw cigarette and gum wrappers, tissues, banana skins or apple cores out your car window? Or when you're walking, do you believe that a gutter is an enlarged trash can and use it accordingly? When you leave picnic grounds, do they resemble a dumping ground?

How about your house and yard? On the alley side, are garbage and trash overflowing from rust-decayed, topless containers? Have some of your bushes gone on a growing spree and are they now bulging into the alley, blocking drivers' views and scratching car finishes?

Have your screens "run" and the wood become discolored? Is your garage door dilapidated and leaning lazily against the garage? Has age worn your paint coat down to the bare wood?

Are piles of leaves present in the yard and around the foundation of the house—just ready for a carelessly dropped match to threaten the entire neighborhood? Is the yard a tangle of weeds and your lawn a mixture of bare spots and crab grass? Are your front steps sagging and the porch weakening from wear?

If you are obliged to answer "yes" to any of these questions you will have to admit that you are contributing to some degree as a negative influence to community appearance.

There is some street cleaning, especially in our "up-town" sections, also to which various citizens have pointed to show that, to some degree, the city administration itself is not doing all that it might be able to do, such as keeping clean refuse strewn on curbing.

Maybe some people will regard this as "silly talk" but all will admit that some of these "little" things are an important factor in determining whether our city will receive adverse or complimentary comment from those who pass through.

The same thing goes for the villages of Fayette County, and incidentally, for a lot of properties along our many main highways.

Call Doctor If Cold Attacks the Sinuses

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Generally, a cold is not really too much to worry about. By taking a couple of aspirins, a hot bath and going to bed, you will likely be as good as new again in a few days with the ordinary cold.

Sinus trouble, however, is something else again.

Since this might develop at any stage of the cold, you've got to be alert for symptoms which might indicate an attack upon your sinuses.

Any of the following should be a signal to you to call your doctor without delay:

A severe cold that continues for more than a week without improvement.

The mucous discharge from your nose which changes to a thick flow of a yellow color.

The fever which usually accompanies a cold that becomes worse.

Localized Pain

Development of any localized pain in the cheeks, above or behind your eyes, or in the teeth of your upper jaw.

A headache or series of headaches which become much more severe than the ordinary pain generally accompanying a cold.

If you have had previous sinus trouble, you've got to be especially wary of any possible recurrence.

Avoid Discomfort

Quick recognition of the fact that a cold has turned into a sinus condition may save you a lot of unnecessary discomfort and trouble.

While you might be able to handle a mild case of the common cold without professional medical aid, you will need prompt help from your physician for any sinus trouble.

Generally, your chances of being cured are pretty good—if you act in time. So see your doctor early.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

D. U. M.: Both my parents are allergic. Does this mean that I will have allergies also?

Answer: Children who have two allergic parents are more likely to have an allergy than those who do not, or have only one allergic parent.

There is also a greater tendency for the allergy to appear at an earlier age.

College Ousts Governor's Daughter, 18

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP)—Pat Thomson, 18, freshman daughter of Gov. and Mrs. Vernon Thomson of Wisconsin, has been suspended by Monmouth College for violating a rule against drinking on the campus.

The suspension, effective several weeks ago, was confirmed reluctantly today by Dr. Robert W. Gibson, president of Monmouth.

Miss Thomson will be permitted to re-enter Monmouth in the fall, if she wishes, the president said. She was suspended for drinking beer in the college infirmary while under treatment for an illness. A senior student who brought her the beer at her request also has been suspended, Dr. Gibson said.

The senior, whom the college head declined to identify, will receive his diploma next month but will be barred from taking part in any of the commencement activities of his class.

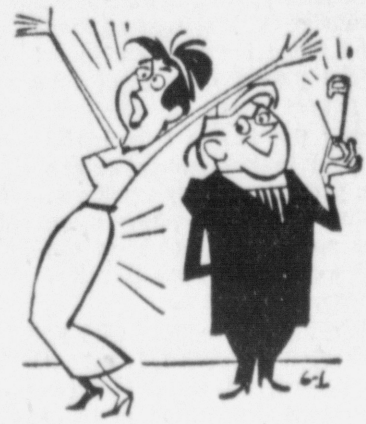

Miss Thomson won attention earlier this spring by chartering a bus and taking her sorority, Kappa Kappa Gamma, to Madison to spend a weekend in the governor's residence.

Dr. Gibson said he was reluctant to discuss the beer incident because of a long-standing policy of the college that all disciplinary

What Is Our Policy?

The President's second speech on the budget makes interesting but not exciting reading. He proposes that we spend just under 4 billion dollars on foreign countries this year and a little more for the next two years as a sort of peace insurance.

It is easy to spend money if you have it. It grows increasingly more difficult to go on spending when the money is not available.

The President feels certain that we can afford to spend this money as peace insurance, particularly as the alternative, he says, we face is war with Soviet Russia.

That raises many questions. It was only two years ago that the President met the Russians at Geneva at what was called the conference at the summit. There they sat, the great men discussing all their own virtues. After that we entered upon an exchange of delegations, Russians coming to this country where they were treated with unusual courtesies; Americans going to Russia where they met everyone and saw everything, even the Russian clergy. It was a glorious jamboree and the press covered it fully in this country with many photographs of love and kisses.

Then a great to-do was made over the possibility of President Eisenhower inviting Marshal Zhukov to come to this country to tell us that he and President Eisenhower are sworn brothers. That came to nothing because Zhukov was not permitted to come and could not lay down policy and therefore did not matter in the Soviet hierarchy.

At any rate, he soon enough acted like a butcher in Hungary, and it would be very embarrassing to bring him here as a state guest because the popular reaction would have been frightful.

Zhukov could not, for instance, have been made a state guest in New York or any other city with a large Hungarian population because he would have been killed.

When the Hungarian revolt occurred, Russia could have put it down somehow, but this new imperialist power rode over the bodies of Hungarians with tanks. The barbarism of Russian conduct in Hungary spoiled President Eisenhower's effort to create an impression that co-existence is possible if only there is goodwill on one side.

The policy of peace at any price does not attract favorable attention in this country and Eisenhower cannot make us love the butchers.

So far as the American people are concerned, they never fell for the White House hot and cold propaganda concerning Soviet Russia. On the whole, they came to believe that nobody can do business with the Russians, that they are liars and frauds and that they keep the world in turmoil for their own purposes.

The President has had Harold Stassen in London, trying to make some kind of disarmament deal with the Russians, but it reads phony. It would seem as though the Russians have handed him half a proposal; one that gives everything on our side and nothing that is important on theirs.

Nothing will come of it as nothing has come of most of Stassen's brilliant ideas, although the President regards him as a great liberal mind.

But it is interesting to note that the President is saying that we need this 4 billion dollars to fight the Russians—a peace offensive—when all the time, up to now we have been told that the Russians had changed their policy and that Stalin being dead, all would be well. This is a bit too paradoxical for the simple

By George Sokolsky

American mind which is accustomed to straight-from-the-shoulder talk.

So now we know that all is not well and that the President needs 4-billion dollars for this fiscal year and more hereafter to win over the weak and backward nations to our cause.

So many varieties of stores have come out of the White House and out of the State Department about our relations with Soviet Russia that nobody can quite make out what policy is, upon what data and criteria it is based and what the effect of such policy will have upon the future of the United States, except that we have the guarantee of the President that if we do as he says, we shall have no war with Soviet Russia.

And how can anybody guarantee anything about Russia which has never kept a single promise made in a binding treaty?

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Generally, a cold is not really too much to worry about. By taking a couple of aspirins, a hot bath and going to bed, you will likely be as good as new again in a few days with the ordinary cold.

Sinus trouble, however, is something else again.

Since this might develop at any stage of the cold, you've got to be alert for symptoms which might indicate an attack upon your sinuses.

Any of the following should be a signal to you to call your doctor without delay:

A severe cold that continues for more than a week without improvement.

The mucous discharge from your nose which changes to a thick flow of a yellow color.

The fever which usually accompanies a cold that becomes worse.

Localized Pain

Development of any localized pain in the cheeks, above or behind your eyes, or in the teeth of your upper jaw.

A headache or series of headaches which become much more severe than the ordinary pain generally accompanying a cold.

If you have had previous sinus trouble, you've got to be especially wary of any possible recurrence.

Avoid Discomfort

Quick recognition of the fact that a cold has turned into a sinus condition may save you a lot of unnecessary discomfort and trouble.

While you might be able to handle a mild case of the common cold without professional medical aid, you will need prompt help from your physician for any sinus trouble.

Generally, your chances of being cured are pretty good—if you act in time. So see your doctor early.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
D. U. M.: Both my parents are allergic. Does this mean that I will have allergies also?

Answer: Children who have two allergic parents are more likely to have an allergy than those who do not, or have only one allergic parent.

There is also a greater tendency for the allergy to appear at an earlier age.

College Ousts Governor's Daughter, 18

MONMOUTH, Ill. (P)—Pat Thomson, 18, freshman daughter of Gov. and Mrs. Vernon Thomson of Wisconsin, has been suspended by Monmouth College for violating a rule against drinking on the campus.

The suspension, effective several weeks ago, was confirmed reluctantly today by Dr. Robert W. Gibson, president of Monmouth.

Miss Thomson will be permitted to re-enter Monmouth in the fall, if she wishes, the president said.

She was suspended for drinking beer in the college infirmary while under treatment for an illness. A senior student who brought her the beer at her request also has been suspended, Dr. Gibson said.

The senior, whom the college head declined to identify, will receive his diploma next month but will be barred from taking part in any of the commencement activities of his class.

Miss Thomson won attention earlier this spring by chartering a bus and taking her sorority, Kappa Kappa Gamma, to Madison to spend a weekend in the governor's residence.

Dr. Gibson said he was reluctant to discuss the beer incident because of a long-standing policy of the college that all disciplinary

Try and Stop Me

—By BENNETT CERF

WHEN DAVID BELASCO produced Eugene Walter's "The Easiest Way," he chose for his leading lady the relatively unknown Frances Starr. In rehearsal she did everything that was expected of her except in one scene, where her hysterical scream was several pitches below the result desired by the "Master." In the dress rehearsal Belasco tiptoed behind her, and Miss Starr gave a shriek that stood everybody's hair on end.

"That's what I want," exulted David Belasco, throwing the safety pin he had used into the wings. "It's the effect I've been working for these last three weeks!"

He confirmed the suspensions only after word of them had leaked out because of the prominence of Miss Thomson, he said.

At Madison, Gov. Thomson declined to comment on the incident. He said his daughter has been at

Miss Patricia Ann Watson Weds Arnold Edward Ward

Mrs. Arnold Edward Ward

Miss Patricia Ann Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Watson, Cline Rd., became the bride of Mr. Arnold Edward Ward, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sever, 736 Dayton Ave., May 25 in St. Colman's Church.

The Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly was the celebrant of the 9:30 a. m. Nuptial High Mass before an altar decorated with white gladioli and majestic daisies.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a intermission length gown of imported rose point lace and nylon tulle, over taffeta. The basque bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neck line and long calla sleeves. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle was etched with handkerchief points of lace. A tiara of pearls held her veil of illusion and she carried a white prayer book topped with a blue tinted gardenia and trailing Stephanotis. Her jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Beverly Moore was maid of honor. She wore a lavender ballerina length gown fashioned from variegated lace and tulle ruffles. The empire waist was complimented by a wide taffeta cummerbund. Her halo picture hat was violet maline braid accented with a satin ribbon bow with streamers. She carried a cascade bouquet of lavender pom poms and feathered white carnations.

Miss Cindy Marie Stirkler, of Columbus, was ring bearer. She wore a white organdy dress styled with a basque bodice, sweetheart neckline and bouffant skirt. Her hair was pinned with a wreath of carnations and she wore a small wrist corsage.
Mr. Ward chose Mr. Joe Sever, his brother, for his best man.
Ushers were Mr. Hugh Lentz and Mr. Leo Shanley of Philadelphia.

A breakfast was served following the ceremony for the wedding party and out of town guests.
The young couple have returned from a short wedding trip and are making their home at 424 1/2 W. Court St.

Mrs. W. F. Wilson Hostess at WCTU Meeting

Mrs. Willard F. Wilson was hostess to the Washington C. H. WCTU Friday afternoon. Mrs. John G. Jordan presided.
Three hymns were sung for the opening with Mrs. B. E. Kelley accompanying at the piano. Mrs. Thomas Watts, devotional leader, chose as theme, "Mother Love." Mrs. Trox Farrell carried out the theme by reading a poem, "A Mother for Mother's Day" which was followed with a closing prayer by Mrs. Watts.

Plans were made for temperance literature to be distributed at the WCTU booth at the Fayette County Fair next month. Mrs. Homer Garinger reported on the progress made to have safety driving signs placed on one of the leading highways.
It was announced that a contribution will be forwarded to the state organization to assist in the proper maintenance of the WCTU cottages at the Lancaster Camp Ground.

Connie Creamer and Pamela Rhoads played piano solos for the opening of the program. A reading by Mrs. Robert T. Wilson followed entitled, "Mother and Children." "Danger in Drinking Alcoholic Beverages" was read by Mrs. Willard Wilson. Mrs. John Case then reviewed a chapter of the study book—the subject being "Mind the First Step."

Two round robin cards were signed to be sent to two members Mrs. Berlice Duckwall and Mrs. E. F. Tondhunter, who are sick. Miss Gilda Baughn was a guest, and Mrs. Guy Brooks was welcomed as a new member.

The flower mission report showed 48 visitations made, 34 cards sent, 27 bouquets donated, four donations and 11 gifts. The benediction in unison closed the meeting.

During the social hour season a refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. John E. Rhoads, and granddaughter, Pamela Rhoads.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James F. Wilson.

Single School District Urged In Pickaway County Survey

CIRCLEVILLE — A single county-wide rural school district has been recommended for Pickaway County.

The recommendation was made by the 51-member County Educational Advisory Committee at its final meeting.
The proposed program would pool Pickaway County's financial resources, to provide greater educational opportunities to county school children at lower cost for years to come.

In addition it would serve as the county's answer to the impending financial squeeze which small school districts will feel beginning Jan. 1, 1960 when a new state aid-to-schools law goes into effect.

THE RECOMMENDED plan which will be reported first to the various township boards of education, will be submitted along with detailed findings of the county school survey to the county board of education.
The county board under existing state law, has authority to create new school districts.

The county-wide plan in allowing a tax valuation of more than $70 million dollars in the county to be applied to the education of 4,239 pupils, would give Pickaway County an assessed tax valuation per pupil of $16,558.37.

This figure would place the count above the $12,000 per pupil standard which the state considers necessary for a good educational program, and considerably in excess of the 1955 state average of $9,984.

Also, because of the high tax valuation, the plan would allow a county-wide school district to borrow up to $5.6 million for building purposes.

The single unit plan was adopted after it was announced that the school boards of Wayne and Washington Townships probably would elect to maintain their present affiliation with the Circleville school system.

OTHER PLANS which were considered by the committee before final recommendation was made including three alternate proposals studied at a previous meeting. They were plans calling for a division of the county into east and west units, a north and south division, and a division into quarters, northeast, northwest, southeast and southwest.

In addition, two other plans developed by members of the committee since the last meeting, were discussed. One called for the inclusion of Wayne, Washington, Pickaway and Sald creek Townships in the Circleville school system along with the consolidation of the remaining township school districts into a single unit.

The second new plan proposed a three district division with Darby, Scioto, Harrison, Ashville, Walnut and Madison Townships making up

Youth Council Panel Enlarged

Brubaker Appoints 10 County Students

The names of 10 county high school students were added to the roster of the city-county Youth Council Friday, in order to "bring county membership up to equal that from the city," Juvenile Judge Robert L. Brubaker, who formed the council, announced.

The names were added at the request of present council members, who said they believed county teenagers would make as much use as their city counterparts of a proposed city-county youth center.

Membership now, including the 18 previously appointed members, numbers 28. Of this group, 14 are from Washington C. H., 14 from the four county high schools.

At the same time, Judge Brubaker announced that the next meeting of planners for the proposed youth center—including council members—will be held at 8 p. m. June 5 in the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium.

NEW MEMBERS added to the council—all from county schools—are Joe Belt, James Cook, Phillip Crago, Ronald Ford, James Hidy, Barbara Knisley, Janice Owens, Marilyn Rhoades, Rebecca Warner and Charles Welton.

Present county members of the council include Garry Brown, Donald Conley, Linda McClaskey and Lucinda Schlichter.

City members of the council are Peggy Bacon, Mary Ann Barr, Jack Crabtree, Kenny Evans, Randy Mann, Danny Miller, Marianne Mouser, George Naylor, David Reno, Larry Slavens, Gilbert Thomas, Wanda Tracey, Shelby Tubbs and Ann Waters.

Reports from a Site and Building Committee and an Activities and Program Committee for the youth center are expected at the June 5 meeting, Brubaker said.

These two, along with all other, committees planning the center, are made up of members of the youth council and interested adults.

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. McDowell are daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. John D. Robinson, who formerly made their home in Buena Vista. Sue McGhee is the granddaughter of Mrs. Floyd McGhee (nee Bessie Robinson) another niece of Mrs. Baker.
All will return to their homes over the weekend.

Two WHS Grads Recommended For Science Scholarships

Two 1957 Washington C. H. High School grads have been singled out by the Ohio Academy of Science to receive "special consideration" for state-sponsored college science scholarships.
Sandra Lee Rose, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Rose, 729 Washington Ave., and Sarah Core, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Core, 825 Lincoln Dr., were honored by the academy for their performance in a one-hour science comprehension exam given at Bowling Green State Science Fair several weeks ago.
Although the academy awards no scholarships itself, it has "recom-

Sunnyside Willing Workers Meet Friday

The Sunnyside Willing Workers met at the home of Mrs. Jesse Todd Friday night with 13 members present.

Mrs. Jerry Nessell read the 23rd Psalm for the devotionals along with the Indian version of the Psalm. She closed by reading an Indian prayer.

Mrs. Edgar Richardson, president, conducted the business session during which two round robin cards were signed to be sent to Mrs. John Markley and Mrs. Frank Littler, members who are sick.

Plans were made for the annual picnic which will be held in July.

The group worked on their project on making comforters for the remainder of the evening.

Mrs. Nessell and Mrs. Horatio Wilson assisted the hostess in serving refreshments. Mrs. William Mace was a guest.

Carolyn Pollard, Scott Case Plan August Wedding

Miss Patricia Ann Watson Weds Arnold Edward Ward

Mrs. Arnold Edward Ward

Miss Patricia Ann Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Watson, Cline Rd., became the bride of Mr. Arnold Edward Ward, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sever, 736 Dayton Ave., May 25 in St. Colman's Church.

The Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly was the celebrant of the 9:30 a. m. Nuptial High Mass before an altar decorated with white gladioli and majestic daisies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a intermission length gown of imported rose point lace and nylon tulle, over taffeta. The basque bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neck line and long calla sleeves. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle was etched with handkerchief points of lace. A tiara of pearls held her veil of illusion and she carried a white prayer book topped with a blue tinted gardenia and trailing stephanotis. Her jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Cindy Marie Stirkler, of Columbus, was ring bearer. She wore a white organdy dress styled with a basque bodice, sweetheart neckline and bouffant skirt. Her hair was pinned with a wreath of carnations and she wore a small wrist corsage.

Mr. Ward chose Mr. Joe Sever, his brother, for his best man.

Ushers were Mr. Hugh Lentz and Mr. Leo Shanley of Philadelphia.

A breakfast was served following the ceremony for the wedding party and out of town guests.

The young couple have returned from a short wedding trip and are making their home at 424 1/2 W. Court St.

Mrs. W. F. Wilson Hostess at WCTU Meeting

Mrs. Willard F. Wilson was hostess to the Washington C. H. WCTU Friday afternoon. Mrs. John G. Jordan presided.

Three hymns were sung for the opening with Mrs. B. E. Kelley accompanying at the piano. Mrs. Thomas Watts, devotional leader, chose as theme, "Mother Love." Mrs. Trox Farrell carried out the theme by reading a poem, "A Mother for Mother's Day" which was followed with a closing prayer by Mrs. Watts.

Plans were made for temperance literature to be distributed at the WCTU booth at the Fayette County Fair next month. Mrs. Homer Garlinger reported on the progress made to have safety driving signs placed on one of the leading highways.

It was announced that a contribution will be forwarded to the state organization to assist in the proper maintenance of the WCTU cottages at the Lancaster Camp Ground.

Connie Creamer and Pamela Rhoads played piano solos for the opening of the program. A reading by Mrs. Robert T. Wilson followed entitled, "Mother and Children." "Danger in Drinking Alcoholic Beverages" was read by Mrs. Willard Wilson. Mrs. John Case then reviewed a chapter of the study book, the subject being "Mind the First Step."

Two round robin cards were signed to be sent to two members Mrs. Berice Duckwall and Mrs. E. F. Todhunter, who are sick. Miss Golda Baughn was a guest, and Mrs. Guy Brooks was welcomed as a new member.

The flower mission report showed 48 visitations made, 34 cards sent, 22 bouquets donated, four donations and 11 gifts. The benediction in union closed the meeting.

During the social hour season 1 refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. John E. Rhoads, and granddaughter, Pamela Rhoads.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James F. Wilson.

WSCS Announces Church Day Plans

The Womens Society of Christian Service of Grace Methodist Church will hold its regular church day meeting in Fellowship Hall Wednesday.

Single School District Urged In Pickaway County Survey

CIRCLEVILLE — A single county-wide rural school district has been recommended for Pickaway County.

The recommendation was made by the 51-member County Educational Advisory Committee at its final meeting.

The proposed program would pool Pickaway County's financial resources, to provide greater educational opportunities to county school children at lower cost for years to come.

In addition it would serve as the county's answer to the impending financial squeeze which small school districts will feel beginning Jan. 1, 1960 when a new state aid-to-schools law goes into effect.

THE RECOMMENDED plan which will be reported first to the various township boards of education, will be submitted along with detailed findings of the county school survey to the county board of education.

The county board under existing state law, has authority to create new school districts.

The county-wide plan in allowing a tax valuation of more than $70 million dollars in the county to be applied to the education of 4,239 pupils, would give Pickaway County an assessed tax valuation per pupil of $16,558.37.

This figure would place the count above the $12,000 per pupil standard which the state considers necessary for a good educational program, and considerably in excess of the 1955 state average of $9,984.

Also, because of the high tax valuation, the plan would allow a county-wide school district to borrow up to $5.6 million for building purposes.

The single unit plan was adopted after it was announced that the school boards of Wayne and Washington Townships probably would elect to maintain their present affiliation with the Circleville school system.

OTHER PLANS which were considered by the committee before final recommendation was made including three alternate proposals studied at a previous meeting. They were plans calling for a division of the county into east and west units, a north and south division, and a division into quarters, northeast, northwest, southeast and southwest.

In addition, two other plans developed by members of the committee since the last meeting, were discussed. One called for the inclusion of Wayne, Washington, Pickaway and Sald creek Townships in the Circleville school system along with the consolidation of the remaining township school districts into a single unit.

The second new plan proposed a three district division with Darby, Scioto, Harrison, Ashville, Walnut and Madison Townships making up

Youth Council Panel Enlarged

Brubaker Appoints
10 County Students

The names of 10 county high school students were added to the roster of the city-county Youth Council Friday, in order to "bring county membership up to equal that from the city."

Juvenile Judge Robert L. Brubaker, who formed the council, announced.

The names were added at the request of present council members, who said they believed county teenagers would make as much use as their city counterparts of a proposed city-county youth center.

Membership now, including the 18 previously appointed members, numbers 28. Of this group, 14 are from Washington C. H., 14 from the four county high schools.

At the same time, Judge Brubaker announced that the next meeting of planners for the proposed youth center—including council members—will be held at 8 p. m. June 5 in the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium.

NEW MEMBERS added to the council—all from county schools—are Joe Belt, James Cook, Phillip Crago, Ronald Ford, James Hidy, Barbara Knisley, Janice Owens, Marilyn Rhoads, Rebecca Warner and Charles Welton.

Present county members of the council include Garry Brown, Donald Conley, Linda McClaskey and Lucinda Schlachter.

City members of the council are Peggy Bacon, Mary Ann Barr, Jack Crabtree, Kenny Evans, Randy Mann, Danny Miller, Marianne Mouser, George Naylor, David Reno, Larry Slaven, Gilbert Thomas, Wanda Tracey, Shelby Tubbs and Ann Waters.

Reports from a Site and Building Committee and an Activities and Program Committee for the youth center are expected at the June 5 meeting, Brubaker said.

These two, along with all other, committees planning the center, are made up of members of the youth council and interested adults.

Ohio Schools May Get $13 Million from U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education Committee has made public tentative allotments which the states would receive under the proposed school construction bill. It provides a five-year, $1 1/2 billion program of federal aid.

Ohio would receive $13,428,000 annually, $7,589,000 on the basis of school age population and $5,839,000 on the basis of need.

Phillies Try To Elbow Way Into NL Lead

Hot Pennsy Crew Now Tied for 3rd With Milwaukee '9'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a merry month of May for the Philadelphia Phillies, who suddenly took on the look of a contender in that National League race by elbowing in with the likes of Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Milwaukee.

The Phillies were sixth, five games out of first on May 1. Today, June 1, they're tied with Milwaukee for third place, 2½ games from first and a half-game from second, with a .667 record (18-9) since the first of May.

Only Cincinnati, with a 20-7 record (.741) topped the Phils in that span as the Redlegs hustled into the league lead. Brooklyn was an almost-break-even 14-1 (.538). Milwaukee was a 13-14 (.481) and tumbled out of first place.

The Phils have done it with a blend of rookies and veterans, although it was a trio of old-timers who hoisted the club into a tie for third with a 2-1 victory over second place Brooklyn Friday night while the Braves were losing 4-3 to the St. Louis Cardinals. Cincinnati was rained out.

Robin Roberts won his fifth with a six-hitter while Willie Jones socked a two-run triple in the fourth inning—after Gran Hamner had ended young Don Drysdale's string of hitless innings against the Phils at 10-2-3 with a one-out double in the frame.

The New York Giants rallied to beat Pittsburgh 3-2 in the other NL game.

In the American, the Chicago White Sox got some help from the second division and opened their biggest lead yet—four games—as Bob Keegan spun his first shutout in three years with a four-hitter that beat Detroit 6-0. Seventh place Baltimore clipped New York's runnerup Yankees 3-1 on Ray Moore's five-hit pitching, and the sixth place Kansas City A's trimmed third place Cleveland 3-1 on Ned Garver's four-hitter. Washington defeated Boston 3-2.

Roberts, who has lost six, could not escape a home-run pitch, giving up his 15th and Roy Campanella's seventh in the seventh inning, but became the first Philadelphia pitcher to beat the Dodgers this season as the Phillies won their seventh in the last 10. It was Brooklyn's third defeat in five games.

Bonus kid Lindy McDaniel was cold and gave the Braves nine hits. But the Cards backed him up with 11 hits against rookie Juan Pizarro with Eddie Kasko 4-for-4 and driving into runs—the tying marker in the sixth and the winner in the eighth. Wally Moon extended his hitting streak to 24 games.

Willie Mays upped his string to 19 games with an eighth-inning double and then came home with the Giants' winning run on Ray Katt's sacrifice fly as Al Worthington beat the Pirates in relief.

Keegan, a 35-year-old righthander who hadn't won since last September, breezed to his first shutout since May 21, 1954, on Sherm Lollar's two-run homer in the first and Walt Dropo's grand-slammer in the eighth. Dropo's the only major leaguer with two bases-loaded homers this season. Frank Lary, who led the AL with 21 victories for the Tigers last year, lost his seventh.

Moore, 31 today, was bothered only by Hank Bauer and Joe Collins, who had two hits each off the Oriole righthander. Al Piliarek drove in two runs with a homer and sacrifice fly against loser Bob Turley.

Garver, who had a three-hitter against Detroit in his last start, granted the Tribe just four singles for his fourth victory. The A's supported him with three doubleplays and Billy Hunter's two-run homer off loser Cal McLish.

An error and singles by Whitey Herzog and Jim Lemon gave the Senators their edge over six-game winner Tom Brewer, who lost his fourth. Truman Clevenger, without a decision in 34 games for the Nats until last Monday, now has two consecutive victories in relief.

Milwaukee Tries To Buy Del Ennis

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, in deep trouble in left field, have offered the Cardinals three players for outfielder Del Ennis, it was learned today, but St. Louis General Manager Frank Lane apparently wants more.

The slumping Braves, now tied for third with the Philadelphia Phillies, offered the Cardinals a front line pitcher, either Ray Crone or Gene Conley, utility outfielder Chuck Tanner, and probably relief hurler Dave Jolly.

Lane said he was interested in pitching, but added "before I let a guy like Ennis go, I'd want a lot of pitcher in return."

The first Indianapolis Motor Speedway race was held in 1909 over a dirt track. Because of numerous accidents, it was paved with brick for the next race.

Wynn Slated To Take Hill Against A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Early Wynn will go against the Kansas City Athletics tonight with only two days rest as Manager Kerby Farrell tries to get the Cleveland Indians back on the winning path.

Friday night's 3-1 loss to the Athletics, after losing a doubleheader to the Chicago White Sox Thursday, gave the Tribe its longest losing streak of the season.

Wynn, who hurled seven innings against the White Sox in Chicago Wednesday, will be opposed by the A's Wally Burnette.

Farrell received some encouraging news Friday when Bob Lemon called from his home in Long Beach, Calif., to report he would be back in uniform next week. Lemon has been convalescing from a torn thigh muscle suffered fielding a bunt in a night game at Cleveland May 24.

The 36-year-old righthander expects to rejoin the Indians for the series opener with the New York Yankees in Cleveland Tuesday, but it may be several days before he can pitch.

Lefty Hank Aguirre, whom the Indians called from San Diego Thursday, reported to the club Friday night. He did not put on a uniform because he has not been added to the roster.

Ned Garver held the Indians to four hits Friday night, which gave them a total of only seven hits in their last two games. Billy Pierce held them to three safe blows in the second game of the Thursday doubleheader at Chicago.

Ike Selects New Youth Fitness Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has designated Carter L. Burgess, former assistant secretary of defense, to serve as chairman of a new Citizens Advisory Committee on the physical fitness of American youth.

The 119-member committee will work with the President's Council on Youth Fitness, headed by Vice President Nixon.

Burgess now is president of Transworld Airlines.

In a letter made public by the White House, Eisenhower told Burgess the job of the new advisory unit will be "to alert our country on what can and should be done to reach the much desired goal of a happier, healthier and more totally fit youth in America."

Among members of the new committee are screen actors Gary Cooper, Bing Crosby and Esther Williams; Gardner Cowles, president and editor of Cowles Magazine, Inc.; Eddie Erdelatz, head football coach at the U. S. Naval Academy and television performer Arthur Godfrey.

Some of the others are Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University and former assistant secretary of defense; William D. Jackson, sports editor of the Cleveland Call and Post; George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; Clarence L. (Biggie) Munn, athletic director at Michigan State University; and former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney.

Johnny Kilbane Killed by Cancer

CLEVELAND (AP)—John Patrick Kilbane, 68, who won the world featherweight championship in 1912 and held it for 11 years, died of cancer Friday afternoon.

Ailing since February, he underwent an operation in March. His family was with him at his home when he died.

A half century ago, as a tough little Irish lad of 18, Johnny Kilbane left the Cleveland docks for the prize fight ring. In an era of great featherweights, he ruled the 126-pounders until in 1923 when he lost the title and retired.

Ceremonies To Start with Parade

Little League Season To Open Here Monday

The Little League Baseball season will get under way Monday evening at Wilson Field on Oakland Ave.

The annual pre-game ceremonies will begin with a parade, starting at 6:45 p. m. The parade will consist of all Little League players dressed in full uniform and the Washington High School band will start at the courthouse and will continue to Wilson Field where the season's inaugural game will be played at 7:30 P.M. under the lights.

The rules of the coming Little League baseball season will be about the same as last year. The standard Little League ball will be used and the same equipment protective such as batting head-gears.

There is only one major change in the rules: Any player being removed from the game by his manager is allowed to re-enter the game should the manager want to send him back. The rule last year stated that a player being removed from the game could not re-enter it.

IN THE Little League send-off, John Breiner's Record-Herald Flashes will oppose Eddie Mitchell's Mac Dews Realtors. This should be a good game, since Flashes were last year's champs and the one of Realtors are hottest prospects of the coming season.

Another light will be installed in the outfield and this will be

'500' Winner Gets Check For $103,844

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Sam Hanks today banked the driver's share of a record $103,844 prize for winning the 500-mile race at Indianapolis Motor Speedway and dropped plans to drive another 500 at Monza, Italy.

Hanks' big prize came out of a total purse of $300,252, also a record. Previous highs, set last year, were $282,052 for the total and $93,819 for first place which was picked up by Pat Flaherty.

Hanks' cut reportedly was 45 per cent. He shared first place money with George Salih of Los Angeles, who entered his Bleond special, and Sandy Belond, of Los Angeles, who sponsored it.

The winner's share was built up by $58,250 from the Speedway for the race and qualification, $819 from the entry fee fund, $20,400 for lap prizes at $150 each lap led, and $24,375 from accessory firms whose products Hanks used.

The 42-year-old veteran from Pacific Palisades, Calif., also won a Mercury convertible which paced the start of the race and numerous other prizes.

Hanks' decision not to go to Monza for a race there June 29 came after he had said he would drive the Ansted Rotary Special, in which Don Freeland of Los Angeles, finished 17th Thursday. He said the owner had decided not to send the car and he decided not to go.

Reds Rained Out, Show Gain Anyhow

CINCINNATI (AP)—Thunder-showers washed out the Cincinnati Redlegs' scheduled game with the Chicago Cubs Friday night, but the night wasn't a total loss.

For one thing, the Milwaukee Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers, chief aspirants for the Reds' National League lead, both lost night games, giving Cincinnati a clear two-game edge.

Redleg Manager Birdie Tebbetts said the pitcher scheduled for Friday, Hal Jeffcoat, would oppose Bob Rush in today's game with the Cubs.

Old Pros Pressing Girls' Meet Leader

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—A youngster still held the lead but the old pros were threatening to take charge as the Virginia Beach Round Robin Golf Tournament entered its next-to-last round here today.

Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., a part 20-year-old redhead who turned professional only last December, was the front-runner. She had a 54-hole score of 220 and 31 points—three more than the veteran Fay Crocker of Uruguay.

Closing in fast were Betty Jamerson of San Antonio, Tex., with 26 points, and Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., with 24 points.

New York City's first traffic light was erected at 42nd Street and Fifth Avenue in 1920.

U. S. railroads say they will spend $1.3 billion dollars on rolling stock in 1957 the only change in the appearance of the park.

Paul Cummings, head of the umpire's committee, has slated a very good group of umpires for the 1957 season and they will be on hand to do their best for each game.

Major problem of the season is the overcrowded condition of the minor league. In order to let every boy play, 11 players will be used in each starting line-up instead of the usual nine.

Ford Leading Wykagyl with 2 Days To Go

NEM ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP)—Masters champion Doug Ford, taking command of the Wykagyl Round Robin Golf Tournament with two rounds to play, said today, "I'm playing so well, it scares me."

Then he added: "I've been on this streak since last September. I'm keeping my fingers crossed. I just hope it lasts through the National Open a couple of weeks from now."

Today Ford is in first place after three rounds of the Wykagyl playing head-to-head with every major crown holder of the professional golf world.

Going into the semifinal round with each player matching his medal score against those of the others in his foursome, Ford had a score of plus-28. He moved ahead of the early front runner, Ben Hogan, who dropped to second with plus 21. In third place was Sam Snead, plus-13, followed by two young pros, Fred Hawkins and Ken Venturi, plus-10 each.

Following in the standings were Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, plus-7; Tommy Bolt, plus-5; Mike Souchak, plus-2; and Dick Mayer, even.

Johnson Collects First Round KO

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Johnson, rated among the top four in both the heavyweight and light-heavyweight classes, wants to go after Archie Moore's 175-pound title as his first prize.

A one-punch knockout winner over Clarence Hinnant of Washington Friday night in 1:24 of the first round, the 28-year-old Philadelphia boxer is looking for bigger game.

"Can I get the winner of the Tony Anthony-Yvon Durelle fight June 14 at Detroit?" asked Pat Alivieri, Johnson's manager.

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club could not make any promise.

Phillies Try To Elbow Way Into NL Lead

Hot Pennsy Crew Now Tied for 3rd With Milwaukee '9'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a merry month of May for the Philadelphia Phillies, who suddenly took on the look of a contender in that National League race by elbowing in with the likes of Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Milwaukee.

The Phillies were sixth, five games out of first on May 1. Today, June 1, they're tied with Milwaukee for third place, 2½ games from first and a half-game from second, with a .667 record (18-9) since the first of May.

Only Cincinnati, with a 20 - 7 record (.741) topped the Phils in that span as the Redlegs hustled into the league lead, Brooklyn was an almost-break-even 14-1 (.538). Milwaukee was a 13-14 (.481) and tumbled out of first place.

The Phils have done it with a blend of rookies and veterans, although it was a trio of old-timers who hoisted the club into a tie for third with a 2-1 victory over second place Brooklyn Friday night while the Braves were losing 4-3 to the St. Louis Cardinals. Cincinnati was rained out.

Robin Roberts won his fifth with a six-hitter while Willie Jones socked a two - run triple in the fourth inning—after Gran Hamner had ended young Don Drysdale's string of hitless innings against the Phils at 10-2-3 with a one-out double in the frame.

The New York Giants rallied to beat Pittsburgh 3-2 in the other NL game.

In the American, the Chicago White Sox got some help from their second division and opened their biggest lead yet—four games—as Bob Keegan spun his first shutout in three years with a four-hitter that beat Detroit 6-0. Seventh place Baltimore clipped New York's runnerup Yankees 3-1 on Ray Moore's five-hit pitching, and the sixth place Kansas City A's trimmed third place Cleveland 3-1 on Ned Garver's four - hitter. Washington defeated Boston 3-2.

Roberts, who has lost six, could not escape a home-run pitch, giving up his 15th and Roy Campanella's seventh in the seventh inning, but became the first Philadelphia pitcher to beat the Dodgers this season as the Phils won their seventh in the last 10. It was Brooklyn's third defeat in five games.

Bonus kid Lindy McDaniel was cold and gave the Braves nine hits. But the Cards backed him up with 11 hits against rookie Juan Pizarro with Eddie Kasko 4-for-4 and driving into runs—the tying marker in the sixth and the winner in the eighth. Wally Moon extended his hitting streak to 24 games.

Willie Mays upped his string to 19 games with an eighth-inning double and then came home with the Giants' winning run on Ray Katt's sacrifice fly as Al Worthington beat the Pirates in relief.

Keegan, a 35-year-old righthander who hadn't won since last September, breezed to his first shutout since May 21, 1954, on Sherm Lollar's two-run homer in the first and Walt Dropo's grand-slammer in the eighth. Dropo's the only major leaguer with two bases-loaded homers this season. Frank Lary, who led the AL with 21 victories for the Tigers last year, lost his seventh.

Moore, 31 today, was bothered only by Hank Bauer and Joe Collins, who had two hits each off the Oriole righthander. Al Pilarcik drove in two runs with a homer and sacrifice fly against loser Bob Turley.

Garver, who had a three-hitter against Detroit in his last start, granted the Tribe just four singles for his fourth victory. The A's supported him with three doubleplays and Billy Hunter's two-run homer off loser Cal McLish.

An error and singles by Whitey Herzog and Jim Lemon gave the Senators their edge over six-game winner Tom Brewer, who lost his fourth. Truman Clevenger, without a decision in 34 games for the Nats until last Monday, now has two consecutive victories in relief.

Milwaukee Tries To Buy Del Ennis

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, in deep trouble in left field, have offered the Cardinals three players for outfielder Del Ennis, it was learned today, but St. Louis General Manager Frank Lane apparently wants more.

The slumping Braves, now tied for third with the Philadelphia Phillies, offered the Cardinals a front line pitcher, either Ray Crone or Gene Conley, utility outfielder Chuck Tanner, and probably relief hurler Dave Jolly.

Lane said he was interested in pitching, but added "before I let a guy like Ennis go, I'd want a lot of pitcher in return."

The first Indianapolis Motor Speedway race was held in 1909 over a dirt track. Because of numerous accidents, it was paved with brick for the next race.

Wynn Slated To Take Hill Against A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Early Wynn will go against the Kansas City Athletics tonight with only two days rest as Manager Kerby Farrell tries to get the Cleveland Indians back on the winning path.

Friday night's 3-1 loss to the Athletics, after losing a doubleheader to the Chicago White Sox Thursday, gave the Tribe its longest losing streak of the season.

Wynn, who hurled seven innings against the White Sox in Chicago Wednesday, will be opposed by the A's Wally Burnette.

Farrell received some encouraging news Friday when Bob Lemon called from his home in Long Beach, Calif., to report he would be back in uniform next week. Lemon has been convalescing from a torn thigh muscle suffered fielding a bunt in a night game at Cleveland May 24.

The 36-year-old righthander expects to rejoin the Indians for the series opener with the New York Yankees in Cleveland Tuesday, but it may be several days before he can pitch.

Lefthander Hank Aguirre, whom the Indians called from San Diego Thursday, reported to the club Friday night. He did not put on a uniform because he has not been added to the roster.

Ned Garver held the Indians to four hits Friday night, which gave them a total of only seven hits in their last two games. Billy Pierce held them to three safe blows in the second game of the Thursday doubleheader at Chicago.

Ike Selects New Youth Fitness Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has designated Carter L. Burgess, former assistant secretary of defense, to serve as chairman of a new Citizens Advisory Committee on the physical fitness of American youth.

The 119-member committee will work with the President's Council on Youth Fitness, headed by Vice President Nixon.

Burgess now is president of Transworld Airlines. In a letter made public by the White House, Eisenhower told Burgess the job of the new advisory unit will be "to alert our country on what can and should be done to reach the much desired goal of a happier, healthier and more totally fit youth in America."

Damage Actions Follow Damming Of Sugar Creek

Quarry Operators Named in Suits
Totaling $25,000

Two suits asking a total of $25,000 in damages and temporary and permanent injunctions against obstructing Sugar Creek with a dam were filed late Friday in Common Pleas Court here against the Sugar Creek Quarry and its nine operators, Alvin Armbrust, Charles Ronald Armbrust, Bonnie True, Joretta Brunner, Hazel Caplinger, Elden Armbrust, Freddie Armbrust, Willard Armbrust and a Kitty Armbrust Workman.

One of the suits was filed by Willard L. Barger and Dolores H. Barger and asks $10,000 for damages to their dwelling and its equipment by water alleged to have backed up above the dam on April 6.

The other suit was filed by Jacob Marion Cockerill and asks $15,000 for damages to crops and the drainage system on his land.

THE PETITION by the Bargers states they own 2.21 acres fronting on the Staunton - Sugar Grove Rd. and that the late E. F. Armbrust owned a 50.25 acre tract contiguous to the Barger land and a 24.28 acre tract immediately east of it, which is being operated now by the nine defendants as the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry.

The Bargers claim in their petition for injunctions and damages that a dam 20 feet high has been constructed across Sugar Creek by the Sugar Creek Quarry, obstructing the natural flow of water draining from their land. They state the water level of the creek has been raised and will interfere with drainage of their land.

The petition by the Bargers says they have a modern dwelling on their tract and that on April 6, water backed up by the dam overflowed their land and into the well and pump which supplies water for the residence, making it unfit for human consumption.

They claim their property was damaged and depreciated to the extent of $10,000.

THE PETITION filed by Cockerill states that he owns 160 acres fronting on the Staunton - Sugar Grove Rd. which is used for agricultural purposes and that 40 acres of it is "bottom land" through which Sugar Creek flows.

The dam constructed by the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry, the petition says, obstructs the natural flow of water and drainage from the Cockerill land. The tile outlets draining the land, the petition states, are below the surface of Sugar Creek.

Cockerill also claims that on April 6 water backed up by the dam caused an overflow of the 40 acres of "bottom land" and that it was not dry enough to cultivate for three weeks. Subsequently, the petition says, part of the planted corn was washed out.

Cockerill asks $15,000 for damage to his crops and the tile ditch drainage system on his land.

Willard and Freddie Armbrust are listed in both petitions as executors of the estate of E. F. Armbrust and Alvin, Elden and Willard Armbrust as the trustees of the estate.

Youth Unhurt As Train Nicks Fender of Car

A 16-year old Mt. Sterling youth narrowly escaped a possibly serious accident when the left rear fender of his auto was struck by a slow-moving B&O freight train at the S. Fayette St. crossing about 7:10 p. m. Friday.

Lewis Gene Caudill, 16, said he was driving north on Fayette St. and he thought the locomotive was stopped. When he realized it was still moving, the slick pavement made it impossible for him to stop his car. He skidded across the tracks and the train hit only the fender.

Caudill was unhurt. Bumpers and fenders were the casualties in a mishap at 5:10 p. m. Friday when autos driven by John Forsha Jr., 25, of 632 S. Fayette St., and Leora Rose Booco, 70, of Jeffersonville, collided. The accident occurred at the intersection of Court and Main Sts.

An unidentified driver was being sought by police as a result of a third accident, in which a parked car owned by Homer Wilson, 833 S. Main St., was sideswiped by a passing vehicle.

Wilson told police he heard a crash in front of his home about midnight and went outside to find the front fender and bumper of his auto damaged.

Pallbearers were six grandsons, John and Edward Gault, Robert and Richard Southworth, Glenn Kearns and Fred Cook. Burial was in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Courts

$5,500 JUDGMENT

Judge John P. Case has awarded Russell Ridout of Clermont County, $5,500 damages for injuries sustained Sept. 10, 1955, when his car was struck by a car driven by Bobbie Joe Huff, of Muncie, Ind., at Temple and Fayette Sts.

The plaintiff charged negligence and asked $25,000 damages. When the case came up for hearing before Judge Case the defendant failed to appear and was not represented.

Chinese sometimes wear crescents of horns to ward off the "evil eye."

Affidavits Clarified

The conclusion that Attorney F. Scott Zimmerman, counsel for Mrs. Minnie Tipton in a money suit against Max Morrow, administrator of the estate of Riley Allen, and E. J. Cunningham, a member of the jury that rendered a verdict in favor of Mrs. Tipton, had had associations in the county's school controversy that "made it practically impossible for them not to have conferred intimately" was drawn in an affidavit by Morrow and not in those by Edwin Buck and Eugene Avey, as reported incorrectly in the Record-Herald Wednesday.

The affidavits were filed by all three in support of a motion by Morrow for a new trial of Mrs. Tipton's suit for $2,847.56 for the care of Allen while she and her two children lived in his home in West Lancaster.

Judge John P. Case heard the motion and granted a new trial on grounds of misconduct by Attorney Zimmerman and Juror Cunningham.

In his entry, Judge Case found that failure of Cunningham to disclose that he was a member of the Rural Parents Assn. and that Zimmerman had acted in a legal capacity for the RPA and other acts and circumstances showing both had participated in the school controversy constituted misconduct, which was grounds for granting a new trial.

In the original trial, the jury returned a verdict granting Mrs. Tipton judgement for $2,847.56, plus interest. Later, on a motion by Morrow, the judge set aside the verdict and rendered a decision in favor of Morrow.

MEANWHILE, the motion for a new trial had been filed by Morrow, and Zimmerman had filed notice that he would appeal the judge's decision to the Court of Appeals.

Judge Case said he arrived at his decision granting a new trial in event of a reversal of his decision setting aside the jury verdict only on the basis of testimony given at the hearing on Morrow's motion and not on the basis of the affidavits submitted by Buck, Avey and Morrow.

The motion for a new trial brought the now complicated and bitter school controversy into what had started out as a routine civil action.

BUCK AND AVEY said in their affidavits supporting Morrow's motion for a new trial that they had seen Zimmerman and Cunningham together at meetings and that both had opposed the Miami Trace position in the school fight.

Cunningham had said during his examination for jury duty that he was "just a casual acquaintance" of Zimmerman.

The paragraph in Morrow's affidavit relating to the acquaintance of Zimmerman and Cunningham follows:

— That in support of the charge of misconduct of the jury defendant is filing herewith affidavits of Edwin Buck and Eugene Avey which tend to establish that at the time of the trial herein, one of the jurors in this cause, one Edward J. Cunningham was having associations, and for some time prior to the said trial, had been having associations with the attorney for the plaintiff, F. Scott Zimmerman, in relation to a school matter which has been pending in this county for some time. . . . of such a nature that it would be practically impossible for them not to have conferred intimately together with regard to said school matters and it would have further been practically impossible for them not to have developed an intimate acquaintance with each other.

Kewanee Test Well Nears 3,000 Feet

At the present rate of drilling, the Kewanee Oil Co. test well on Creek Rd. should be down near the 3,000 foot mark by Monday morning.

The drill had reached 2,764 feet at 8 a. m. Saturday, and the rate of cutting was proceeding at the rate of more than 100 feet daily.

During the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. Saturday the drill had cut through 112 feet of what appeared to be an extremely hard stone.

The heavy rainfall Friday evening turned the parking lot at the well and surrounding area, into a sea of mud and water, so parking will probably be confined to the highway over the week end.

The well is now 773 feet deeper than the one drilled near the former Washington Ice Co. plant here in 1904. Oil was found in that well at 1,750 to 1,770 feet.

Rotary To Hear Progress Report On Little League

Little League baseball plans and how they are progressing will be on the agenda at the Washington Rotary Club luncheon program next Tuesday with George Finley and Ronald Cornwell in charge.

Managers of the Major League teams in the Little League organization here will be present to talk about their teams, their new players and what they expect to do in the present season.

The Rotary Club has been the chief organizer and supporter of Little League, and since the beginning of this recreation feature for boys has taken special interest in all its plans. On frequent occasions it had players and managers attending club luncheons to keep all Rotarians well advised.

Damage Actions Follow Damming Of Sugar Creek

Quarry Operators Named in Suits
Totaling $25,000

Two suits asking a total of $25,000 in damages and temporary and permanent injunctions against obstructing Sugar Creek with a dam were filed late Friday in Common Pleas Court here against the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry and its nine operators, Alvin Armbrust, Charles Ronald Armbrust, Bonnie True, Joretta Brunner, Hazel Caplinger, Elden Armbrust, Freddie Armbrust, Willard Armbrust and Kitty Armbrust Workman.

One of the suits was filed by Willard L. Barger and Dolores H. Barger and asks $10,000 for damages to their dwelling and its equipment by water alleged to have backed up above the dam on April 6.

The other suit was filed by Jacob Marion Cockerill and asks $15,000 for damages to crops and the drainage system on his land.

THE PETITION by the Bargers states they own 2.21 acres fronting on the Staunton - Sugar Grove Rd. and that the late E. F. Armbrust owned a 50.25 acre tract contiguous to the Barger land and a 24.28 acre tract immediately east of it, which is being operated now by the nine defendants as the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry.

The Bargers claim in their petition for injunctions and damages that a dam 20 feet high has been constructed across Sugar Creek by the Sugar Creek Quarry, obstructing the natural flow of water draining from their land. They state the water level of the creek has been raised and will interfere with drainage of their land.

The petition by the Bargers says they have a modern dwelling on their tract and that on April 6, water backed up by the dam overflowed their land and into the well and pump which supplies water for the residence, making it unfit for human consumption.

They claim their property was damaged and depreciated to the extent of $10,000.

THE PETITION filed by Cockerill states that he owns 160 acres fronting on the Staunton - Sugar Grove Rd. which is used for agricultural purposes and that 40 acres of it is "bottom land" through which Sugar Creek flows.

The dam constructed by the Sugar Creek Stone Quarry, the petition says, obstructs the natural flow of water and drainage from the Cockerill land. The tile outlets draining the land, the petition states, are below the surface of Sugar Creek.

Cockerill also claims that on April 6 water backed up by the dam caused an overflow of the 40 acres of "bottom land" and that it was not dry enough to cultivate for three weeks. Subsequently, the petition says, part of the planted corn was washed out.

Cockerill asks $15,000 for damage to his crops and the tile ditch drainage system on his land.

Willard and Freddie Armbrust are listed in both petitions as executors of the estate of E. F. Armbrust and Alvin, Elden and Willard Armbrust as the trustees of the estate.

Final Entry of Disbarment of Crow Filed by Appellate Court

A final entry affirming the disbarment of Attorney J. Harvey Crow of Urbana, attorney for Mrs. Beverly Clickner Walls, indicted for embezzlement of $9,874.17 from the activities fund of Washington C. H. High School, has been filed with the clerk of the Common Pleas Court of Champaign County (Urbana) by the Second District Court of Appeals.

Crow had been disbarred a little more than two years ago by a three-judge court sitting by assignment in Urbana. Members of that court were Judge John P. Case, of Fayette County, Judge Charles Kirk of Clinton County and Judge Paul Dull of Mercer County.

Crow filed motion for a stay of execution in the Court of Appeals and continued to practice law during the pendency of the appeal before the court.

During the two years he practiced while under a stay of execution, he represented a number of clients in Washington C. H. One of them was Mrs. Walls.

JUDGE CASE disqualified himself from presiding at the arraignment of Mrs. Walls and Judge John H. Houston of Brown County was assigned to the bench in his place.

Mrs. Walls' trial was set for June 3.

On May 20, after Judge Case learned that the Court of Appeals had affirmed the lower court's disbarment of Crow on May 8, he filed an entry and an order postponing the trial of Mrs. Walls.

and disbaring Crow from representing her or any other clients in his court.

Judge Case noted in his entry that the Court of Appeals final entry (affirming Crow's disbarment) "can reasonably be expected before June 3," the date set for the trial of Mrs. Walls.

Judge Case also rescinded his earlier disqualification of himself, to sit in the Walls trial.

ON MAY 23, Mrs. Walls filed a motion to strike from the record Judge Case's order postponing her trial and barring Crow from practice in his court.

On May 31, seven days after the Court of Appeals had filed the entry affirming Crow's disbarment, Mrs. Walls filed with the Court of Appeals a petition for a writ to prohibit Judge Case from presiding at her trial.

At the same time Judge Case filed with the Court of Appeals an affidavit asking that two members of the court be disqualified from hearing Mrs. Walls' petition. Judge Case's affidavit states Judge William C. Wiseman and Judge Roscoe G. Hornbeck "have an interest, bias, prejudice or disqualification" in the case within the meaning of the statute.

Meanwhile, on May 25, Crow had filed a motion for a stay of execution of his disbarment with the Ohio Supreme Court. The clerk of this court said Saturday that the hearing on the motion had been set for June 12.

Judge John P. Case heard the motion and granted a new trial on grounds of misconduct by Attorney Zimmerman and Juror Cunningham.

In his entry, Judge Case found that failure of Cunningham to disclose that he was a member of the Rural Parents Assn. and that Zimmerman had acted in a legal capacity for the RPA and other acts and circumstances showing both had participated in the school controversy constituted misconduct, which was grounds for granting a new trial.

In the original trial, the jury returned a verdict granting Mrs. Tipton judgement for $2,847.56, plus interest. Later, on a motion by Morrow, the judge set aside the jury's verdict and rendered a decision in favor of Morrow.

MEANWHILE, the motion for a new trial had been filed by Morrow, and Zimmerman had filed notice that he would appeal the judge's decision to the Court of Appeals.

Judge Case said he arrived at his decision granting a new trial in event of a reversal of his decision setting aside the jury verdict only on the basis of testimony given at the hearing on Morrow's motion and not on the basis of the affidavits submitted by Buck, Avey and Morrow.

The motion for a new trial brought the now complicated and bitter school controversy into what had started out as a routine civil action.

BUCK AND AVEY said in their affidavits supporting Morrow's motion for a new trial that they had seen Zimmerman and Cunningham together at meetings and that both had opposed the Miami Trace position in the school fight.

Cunningham had said during his examination for jury duty that he was "just a casual acquaintance" of Zimmerman.

The paragraph in Morrow's affidavit relating to the acquaintance of Zimmerman and Cunningham follows:

—That in support of the charge of misconduct of the jury defendant is filing herewith affidavits of Edwin Buck and Eugene Avey which tend to establish that at the time of the trial herein, one of the jurymen in this cause, one Edward J. Cunningham was having associations, and for some time prior to the said trial, had been having associations with the attorney for the plaintiff, F. Scott Zimmerman, in relation to a school matter which has been pending in this county for sometime.... of such a nature that it would be practically impossible for them not to have conferred intimately together with regard to said school matters and it would have further been practically impossible for them not to have developed an intimate acquaintance with each other."

Kewanee Test Well Nears 3,000 Feet

At the present rate of drilling, the Kewanee Oil Co. test well on Creek Rd. should be down near the 3,000 foot mark by Monday morning.

The drill had reached 2,764 feet at 8 a. m. Saturday, and the rate of cutting was proceeding at the rate of more than 100 feet daily.

During the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. Saturday the drill had cut through 112 feet of what appeared to be an extremely hard stone.

The heavy rainfall Friday evening turned the parking lot at the well and surrounding area, into a sea of mud and water, so parking will probably be confined to the highway over the week end.

The well is now 773 feet deeper than the one drilled near the former Washington Ice Co. plant here in 1904. Oil was found in that well at 1,750 to 1,770 feet.

Rotary To Hear Progress Report On Little League

Little League baseball plans and how they are progressing will be on the agenda at the Washington Rotary Club luncheon program next Tuesday with George Finley and Ronald Cornwell in charge.

Managers of the Major League teams in the Little League organization here will be present to talk about their teams, their new players and what they expect to do in the present season.

The Rotary Club has been the chief organizer and supporter of Little League, and since the beginning of this recreation feature for boys has taken special interest in all its plans. On frequent occasions it had players and managers attending club luncheons to keep all Rotarians well advised.
